The Defense Program

STATE GUARDS

REPORTS from 34 states indicate that 112,124 men already are in service as members of State Guard units, and have received approximately 45,891 pieces of equipment from the War Department. These reports, based on information released by the National Guard Bureau on 30 April, also showed that requisitions for other equipment are on file, with others expected in the immediate future, and that material increases in the number of enlistments are also expected.

As of 30 April, there were 15 states already receiving equipment from the War Department. Four other states have organized units and submitted requisitions for equipment, while 14 other states and Puerto Rico have organized state guards but have not bonded yet property officers and therefore equipment has not been authorized for issue. Three of the 15 remaining states have plans under way for organizing state guards, while four others intend to augment their police forces instead of organizing State Guards, and eight have not yet submitted reports as to their plans.

To date, there are 19 known states in which the State Guard units have been organized and these units are undergoing weekly instruction. These states are Alabama, Connecticut, Florida, Illinois, Indiana, Kentucky, Maine, Massachusetts, Missouri, New Jersey, New York, Rhode Island, Tennessee, Vermont, Virginia, California, Mississippi, North and South Carolina. All of these states, except the latter four, already have received equipment and are carrying on training and organization. California, Mississippi, North Carolina, and South Carolina, organized units and requisitions are on file for issuance of equipment.

State units have been organized in Arkansas, Colorado, Delaware, Georgia, Kansas, Maryland, Michigan, Minnesota, New Hampshire, New Mexico, Oklahoma, Pennsylvania, Puerto Rico, Texas and Wisconsin, but equipment has not been issued due to the fact that they have as yet not bonded property officers, a requirement that must be complied with before the equipment is issued.

Ohio, Iowa and Oregon have plans for organization under way, but have not called up enlisted men or filed requisitions for equipment. Louisiana, Nevada, South Dakota and West Virginia, are at the present the only known states that do not intend to organize State Guard units. They say they are making plans to augment their police forces instead. Arizona, Idaho, Montana, Nebraska, North Dakota, Utah, Washington and Wyoming have as yet made no reports on the status of their plans and no information is available that they will take definite steps for organizing State Guards.

The 112,124 men already enlisted for service are undergoing, or ready to undergo, weekly instruction. New York and Texas aggregate the greatest strength by individual states with 13,910 and 10,000 recruits respectively.

To the 15 states who have progressed to a point of receiving equipment, the War

Report on Naval Bill Urges Air Autonomy

Creation of a separate and independent air force is recommended in a report by Representative James G. Scrugham, chairman of the Navy Department Subcommittee of the House Committee on Appropriations which was submitted to the House this week in connection with the conference report on the 1942 Navy Department Supply Bill.

Mr. Scrugham's report declares: "Now appears to be the time for the Congress to act vigorously in authorizing the creation of at least a separate and independent air force in the Navy and Army in order that mistaken loyalties to the older services and blind resistance to changes may no longer so seriously handicap the national defense."

Later, Mr. Scrugham told the ARMY AND NAVY JOURNAL that he was speaking with the knowledge and approval of the members of his subcommittee.

In connection with the report Representative Scrugham said he did not intend to introduce a bill to create a separate air force at this time, but was laying the groundwork for such legislation. He added: "I am under no hallucinations regarding the opposition such a change will encounter. This is just the first stage in the promotion of a change that is bound to come sooner or later. In the meantime I intend to place the facts before the investigating committee of the House Naval Affairs Committee and see if they will take any action. Unless the Naval Affairs Committee will handle the matter and take it up, there is very little chance for the change at this session of Congress."

The text of the Scrugham report on the Supply Bill follows in part:

"As agreed to by the conference committee, the bill carried a total of $3,415-

New Army Leaders

The Army's two new civilian leaders were well settled in their new posts this week—each with a definite objective in mind to help make the defense program a success.

Mr. John J. McCloy, the new Assistant Secretary of War, intends to give special attention to the development of new weapons and new methods. He is particularly interested in lessening the restrictive influence of what he refers to as "branch consciousness."

Mr. Robert A. Lovett, the new Assistant Secretary of War for Air, is giving his prime attention to "getting airplanes." He is making a general study of air organization, training, personnel, etc., and may later have some recommendations for changes in these fields, but, as he puts it, the first object is to get the planes—after that we can decide how we will use them.

As yet no definite decision has been made as to the distribution of duties between the new leaders. Secretary Stimson has issued orders that Judge Robert P. Patterson, the Under Secretary, shall continue to perform the procurement duties which formerly were the statutory functions of the Assistant Secretary. It is understood that Mr. McCloy will assist the Secretary in general matters, that he will keep contact with the General Staff and be of assistance in the military organization and that Mr. Lovett will help Judge Patterson in aircraft procurement and have general supervision over the General Headquarters Air Force and the activities of the Office of the Chief of the Air Corps.

Mr. McCloy was in Germany during the period of the growth of its present Army and has a keen understanding of their methods of development. He says that he hopes to accomplish something toward the lessening of "branch consciousness" in our Army. He believes that the strict

Army Begins Selective Temporary Promotions

The War Department yesterday announced new promotion policies introducing selection for the temporary promotion of majors and lieutenant colonels to the rank of colonel and providing a method for the promotion of Retired Officers on active duty.

The full text of the official announcement follows:

"Promotions to the grade of general officer, temporary or permanent, are made solely on the basis of selection. Heretofore promotion to grades below that of general officer have been made on seniority or length of service. While the War Department does not intend to seek a change at this time in the method of making permanent promotions it has reached a decision that future temporary promotions of Regular Army officers to the grade of colonel will be determined on a basis of selection.

"The system may eventually lead to the extension of the policy of selection for temporary promotions to all grades and in all components during the present emergency.

"Careful consideration is being given by the War Department to the best method of determining those to be promoted. Available for selection will be the lieutenant colonels and majors of the promotion list of the Regular Army. These officers comprise a large group all of practically the same length of service, and the majority of whom have had World War experience.

"In selecting those to be promoted, obviously a great weight will be given to character and leadership. The extensive maneuvers scheduled for this Summer and Fall will provide an unusual opportunity for officers to demonstrate qualities of leadership under field conditions. Physical and mental vigor will be essential qualities in determining selection for command duty. General efficiency and age will, of course, be considered.

"Under existing law permanent promotion to the grade of lieutenant colonel from the rank of major occurs upon completion of 23 years service, provided a specific number of those years has been in grade of major. There are a considerable number of regular Army majors with more than 23 years service whose promotion has been delayed pending completion of the required service in the grade of major. Since many lieutenant colonels of the officers Reserve Corps now on active duty have reached that rank after but 18 years of service, the limitation imposed on the Regular Army major is to be cancelled in the interest of fairness and efficiency.

"A special policy with respect to medical officers and chaplains in field grades will be announced shortly.

"Retired officers called to active duty will receive temporary promotion, if recommended by their commanding officers, on the following basis:

"Lieutenant colonel to colonel—upon completion of 28 years of active service.

"Major to lieutenant colonel—upon completion of 23 years of active service.

"Captain to major—upon completion of

Nation's Editors Approve United States-Greenland Pact; Ponder Future

America's press this week turned attention to the agreement between the United States and Greenland authorizing the United States to establish air bases, naval facilities and other fortifications on Greenland. Almost unanimously the press expressed approval of the pact and viewed the action as logical extension of the Monroe Doctrine and essential to the protection of the Western Hemisphere.

The New London, Conn., Day, said that in declaring a protectorate over Greenland, the United States government has moved boldly in an already determined direction. "This latest move by the United States government has been in the nature, therefore, not only of forestalling attempts by the Germans to interfere with shipping in the Atlantic, but it has given the right and responsibility to this nation for naval patrol off Greenland's shores and for convoy by northern route from this country in furnishing supplies to the beleaguered British." The Bridgeport, Conn., Times-Star, viewed the agreement as an essential step by the United States and declared "By taking over the defense of Greenland, President Roosevelt has made an obvious and necessary practical extension of the Monroe Doctrine. Never before in our history have we had such definite need for the defense of this hemisphere."

The Union, of Manchester, N. H., said that "the hazard of permitting the Nazis to establish bases in Greenland cannot be contemplated for a moment. That would not only enable them to sit astride the shipping routes in the North Atlantic, but it would give them a jumping-off place for an assault on Canada and the United States." The Herald, of Miami, Fla., feels that the move is entirely for our national defense and that the 17,000 inhabitants, of whom 16,000 are Eskimos care little and know less about what is going on. It concludes that, "If we are drifting into the conflict, it is the part of wisdom to get a foothold on the territory. If we are not, the agreement takes us mighty close to the 'shooting'." The Herald pointed out that the "plan to fortify the ice-capped island puts us smack up against what Germany has announced as a counter-blockade zone. Within three miles of it, to be exact."

The Alabama Journal, of Montgomery, Ala., sees heavy risks in the establishment of air and naval bases on Greenland, and declares "It will become especially dangerous if Greenland is made—as is expected—a way station for the delivery of American munitions to Britain. Ships delivering goods and planes to Greenland for transfer to Britain must be escorted at least that far and, at Greenland's ports, turned over to British convoys for the journey through the submarine infested waters. If something happens to an American ship between Eastern seaports and Greenland it may easily be the spark that sets off heavy fireworks." The Courier-Journal of Louisville, Ky., declares that Denmark's king, by action by the United States in establishing a protectorate over Greenland, loses nothing, and can really afford to be grateful for the protectorate. "He has not lost a jewel of his crown, he hasn't even pawned it," the Courier-Journal, declares. "The United States with a bold but perhaps a reluctant stroke, assumes guardianship and will defend, if need be, as trustee."

The Dallas, Texas, News says that the United States in establishing a protectorate over Greenland, is acting in self defense and says that "the Nazi foreign office, joined by certain elements in the United States, may be expected to howl over the thin coating of international legal procedure by which we have run up the flag over Greenland." The News continues with the assertion that "the overwhelming majority of Americans approve the move, however, since most of us have long since accepted Secretary Hull's dictum that in times of world-wide anarchy, a nation such as ours must act on the law of self-defense." The Erie, Pa., Dispatch-Herald said that "A step has now been taken—a long one with disturbing implications—to strengthen our defenses at a most vulnerable spot and round out the line of air bases that are to stand guard over American shores." The Dispatch-Herald adds that the "perils visualized in this bold measure probably are no greater than those that would continually threaten our peace and safety if we failed to take the realistic view and neglected to institute this final and seemingly imperative safeguard."

The Repository, of Canton, Ohio, declares that "if Greenland would be useful to Germany for maintaining its counter-blockade of Great Britain, it would be useful to the United States for resisting the counter-blockade. That seems a good enough reason for establishing a base on Greenland." The Buffalo, N. Y., Courier-Express, says "the Germans may not like Mr. Roosevelt's declarations; but they cannot challenge it without challenging the Monroe Doctrine, itself—and we have been deluged with assurance both from Germany and from Hitler's apologists elsewhere that never, never have the Nazis even dreamed of interfering in any way with the affairs of the Western Hemisphere."

The Journal, of Springfield, Ill., says, "American assumption of a protectorate over Greenland challenges Hitler to attempt further consolidation of his victories in Scandinavia. It is more than assurance that Greenland will not become a Nazi colony." The Beacon Journal, of Akron, Ohio, declares, "Though bases in Greenland, 1,500 miles northeast of Maine, may never be used, it is better to have American rights there defined now, while there is nobody more formidable than the lemmings, stoats, polar bears, and a few thousand Eskimo's to argue about it."

521,750, which is $64,500 more than the bill carried when it left the House. All but $64,500 of the House reduction of $3,974,264 has been permitted to stand.

"The Senate made provision for a number of public-works projects, estimated to cost $1,071,000, as agreed to. It did not add additional money on account of such projects. At the same time, the Senate eliminated two projects, which the House had approved, having a total cost limit of $750,000. The net result is additional contractual authority of $321,000.

"The House provision with respect to the procurement of domestically produced articles of food has been modified to agree with the action of the Senate and House on the provision included in the Fifth National Defense Appropriation Act. In other words, it has been broadened to include clothing and has made compliance subject to the availability of domestic articles of satisfactory quality and at reasonable prices.

"The Senate added to the bill a limitation on commissions payable on land-purchase contracts. The Senate fixed a maximum of 3 percent. The conference committee agreed upon a maximum of 2 percent.

"I now will speak a moment on a House provision which the Senate eliminated. We have concurred in their action, against our unanimous judgment, in order to expedite the enactment of this bill.

"I refer to the House provision for establishing an auxiliary flying field to the naval air station at San Diego, Calif., at Boulder City, Nev. Naval aviation facilities already exist at the Boulder City Airport. If used to relieve congestion at San Diego, some addition thereto would need to be made in quarters and improvement of the field.

"The Senate conferees resisted this item because it did not have the endorsement of the present Chief of the Bureau of Aeronautics. It is our constitutional duty to provide and maintain a Navy, but I do not construe that to mean that the Congress must be dictated to by the Navy Department or by any bureaucratic chiefs, especially those in the Navy Bureau of Aeronautics. For this reason I intend to repeatedly present the issue to the House.

"As I previously stated, the chief differences of opinion between the House and Senate conferees arose over matters relating to aviation. After a lengthy investigation of the subject, frequent inspections of naval bases, and conversations with scores of pilots, I have come to the conclusion that our present system is certainly not developing aviation tactics for an offensive aerial war.

"Naval airplanes in particular are evidently considered as an adjunct to the surface ships, and present training and tactics of naval aviators tend largely toward protection of the fleet. We are in entire agreement that both Navy and Army as now constituted should have the necessary airplanes to accomplish their missions, but daily it becomes more obvious that we are sadly lacking in the unified fighting air force such as is possessed by Germany.

"The importance of air supremacy is generally realized in this country, but apparently not by some of the chiefs of aeronautics, who are still mentally fighting future war with the tactics and equipment of 1917 and 1918.

"The future decisive area of combat will be in the air. This fact is becoming more ominously evident, as the record of events in the Old World is presented to our vision. A growing belief on my part that the United States must have a separate air force has now become a positive conviction. The vastly increasing range, speed, and striking power of aerial warships promises to sensationally further revolutionize present-day methods of combat.

"Literally hundreds of millions of dollars are now being spent for structures and duplications of air facilities by the Army and Navy that may soon become obsolescent. This great economic waste could at least partially be avoided by a unified air command. The first indictment is against the policy of constructing and locating comparatively adjacent major Army and Navy air centers, usually costing millions of dollars each, under separate direction and command. This criticism does not apply to auxiliary or emergency landing fields nor to the splendid officers handling the actual operation and construction, who are doing a most excellent job. The criticism does apply to the aeronautic bureau chiefs who are responsible for the questionable policy. The second indictment is against the obstinacy of the same bureau chiefs in their blind copying of the English practice of having no bomb protection for airplane hangars, repair shops, and other facilities.

"The lesson of the destruction of the Polish air force by the Germans at the beginning of the war seems to have gone entirely unheeded. In a flat country protected air facilities may be impracticable, but where there are adjacent hills it seems inexcusable to deliberately build air or other bases invitingly located for destruction by enemy bombs when a moderate additional expense would provide safety. Interceptor and pursuit planes can be provided with folding wings, as in the Navy airplane carriers, to reduce the storage space required.

"The present policy of concentrating highly essential military or industrial structures in very limited areas cannot be too strongly condemned, and may constitute an error of gravest consequences. It threatens to congeal our program for national defense into an obsolete and inefficient pattern, when just the reverse is desired. The only real remedy for the situation lies with the Congress. While the Chief Executive, in his capacity of Commander in Chief, has the power in times of emergency to consolidate air forces under one command, actually the details of any such changes are in the hands of the bureau chiefs in both branches of the service.

"Authority is one of the hardest things for a capable human being to surrender, and it is characteristic of all Government bureaus that they vigorously resist changes affecting their jurisdiction. This may account for the fact that there is united opposition to a separate air force on part of nearly all admirals and generals in command and few, if any, of their subordinates care to take issue with their superior officers. Many years ago Gen. William Mitchell, the pioneer advocate of a separate air force, was most severely disciplined for his temerity in voicing his opinions in public. Today the reasons for unified air organization have increased tenfold, but the powers of the dead hands of entrenched bureaucracy have likewise multiplied and constitute a formidable opposition.

"The old military strategy of mile-by-mile struggle for possession of forts and trenches as a primary objective in warfare is obviously obsolete.

"The victors in the wars of today and tomorrow will be those who can best ignore and overreach armies and navies, and use their air superiority to strike directly at vital spots like water, food, and power sources, munitions plants, harbors, and airdromes. Then comes the victorious onslaught of the armored divisions, but air superiority is the first essential.

"With all these in mind, now appears to be the time for the Congress to act vigorously in authorizing the creation of at least a separate and independent air force in the Navy and Army in order that mistaken loyalties to the older services and blind resistance to changes may no longer so seriously handicap the national defense. As a preliminary step, the Navy air force might be made an independent unit like the Marine Corps. Likewise, a separate service of supply seems desirable for aviation. Squadrons in training for an offensive aerial warfare should not be hamstrung by either a divided command or by inadequate replacement parts. To accomplish the best results a specialized aviation supply service should be created, and the high command should likewise be vested in specialists in aviation warfare, and not in prejudiced bureau chiefs who have to be qualified in all major naval subjects."

Regulars Command Nat. Gd. Units

Three Army officers this week were ordered to command of a National Guard division and two brigades. The orders issued this week were:

Maj. Gen. Daniel I. Sultan to command the 38th Division with headquarters at Camp Shelby, Miss. He succeeds Maj. Gen. Robert H. Tyndall, who retired 30 April, having reached age 64.

Col. Carl A. Baehr, (FA), GSC, Chief of Staff of the II Army Corps, has been assigned to command the 71st Field Artillery Brigade, Ft. Ethan Allan, Vt.

Col. Lloyd E. Jones, (FA), GSC, Chief of Staff of the I Army Corps, has been assigned to command the 76th Field Artillery Brigade, Ft. Francis E. Warren, Wyo.

Both of these brigades are corps artillery. The 71st is composed of the 186th, 187th and 258th Field Artillery, New York National Guard; the 76th consists of the 183d, Idaho; 188th, North Dakota, and 144th California National Guard.

A third brigade, the 66th Field Artillery Brigade, 41st Division, has for some months been commanded by a Regular Army officer, Brig. Gen. Marshall G. Randall, and a number of chiefs of staff of divisions are Regular Army officers.

General Sultan is the First Regular Army officer to be given command of a National Guard Division in active service since the World War. The 38th Division is made up of National Guard units from Kentucky, Indiana, and West Virginia. General Tyndall, the retiring commanding general, is an officer of the Indiana National Guard.

General Sultan has just returned from Hawaii where he has been in command of the Hawaiian Division at Schofield Barracks.

General Sultan was born in Oxford, Mass., and was graduated from the United States Military Academy in 1907. Practically all of his service has been as an officer of the Corps of Engineers. Prior to the World War General Sultan served at Fort Leavenworth, Kansas, at Washington Barracks in the District of Columbia, and as an instructor in engineering at the United States Military Academy. He also served in the Philippine Islands in charge of the construction of fortifications. During the World War he served in Washington as a member of the War Department General Staff. From 1929 to 1931 he was in Nicaragua in charge of the Inter-oceanic Canal Survey. He also was in charge of the relief activities during the Nicaraguan earthquake of March, 1931. Subsequently, he served as a member of the Inter-oceanic Canal Board in the Office of the Chief of Engineers, Washington, D. C. From 1934 to 1938 he served as Engineer Commissioner for the District of Columbia. In 1938 he was promoted to brigadier general and in the following year went to Hawaii.

For his World War service General Sultan was awarded the Distinguished Service Medal, to which an oak-leaf cluster was added for his services as Commander of the United States Army Troops in Nicaragua. He also was awarded the Presidential Medal of Merit by the Nicaraguan Government.

Marine Corps Activities

The entire 1st Marine Division is now back from Guantanamo Bay, Cuba, with about one-third of the units stationed at Quantico, Va., and the remaining two-thirds at Paris Island, S. C. Navy regulations against publication of stations of specific units prevent disclosure of the exact distribution of the division.

Maj. Gen. Holland M. Smith, division commander, in Washington for a brief visit on Thursday, stated that his command was fit and hard from six months of arduous drills in the Caribbean. About half the command is on furlough now, and the remainder will take leave the latter half of May. By 2 June, General Smith said, his organization would be ready to resume training at the two posts. This month is being devoted to overhaul of equipment and preparations for resumption of training.

An officer and a warrant officer have been ordered to Jacksonville, N. C., in connection with the construction of the new Marine Barracks at New River, N. C. Lt. Col. William P. T. Hill, an experienced engineer, has been ordered from the Depot of Supplies, Philadelphia, Pa., to serve as liaison officer for the Marine Corps at the project. Quartermaster Clerk Hubert G. Bozarth has been ordered from Quantico to the new barracks.

A number of Marine officers received promotion this week incident to redistribution of officers in the various grades made effective 1 March. The redistribution resulted in advancement of Brig. Gen. Clayton B. Vogel, to permanent grade of major general. General Vogel, as commanding general of the 2nd Marine Division, has been serving temporarily in grade of major general. Names of those promoted are listed in this week's Marine orders.

The Baltic Society

Members of the Baltic Society, composed of the personnel who accompanied General John J. Pershing to France, have decided to hold their annual dinner this year on 10 May, the anniversary of the date on which General Pershing was made commander of the AEF. General Pershing, who returned to Washington this week from San Antonio, plans to attend.

In previous years the Society has held its dinner on or near 28 May, the anniversary of the sailing of the SS Baltic which took General Pershing and his party to London, from whence he went to Paris to establish his headquarters.

The dinner this year will be held in Washington, D. C., at the Army and Navy Club. Acceptances have been received from the following:

General John J. Pershing.
Maj. Gen. James G. Harbord.
Maj. Gen. Merritt W. Ireland.
Maj. Gen. Fox Conner.
Maj. Gen. John L. Hines.
Maj. Gen. Dennis E. Nolan.
Maj. Gen. Clarence C. Williams.
Maj. Gen. Walter A. Bethel.
Maj. Gen. George S. Patton, Jr.
Col. George E. Adamson.
Col. Parker Hitt.
Col. John S. Chambers.
Col. Hugh B. Moore.
Col. Henry Beeuwkes.
Col. Hugh H. Young.
Capt. Ray T. Middleton.
Capt. Philip Meisel.
Capt. Grover W. Roth.
Warrant Officer Oliver E. Scheid.
Warrant Officer Joe Darsey.
Warrant Officer Charles B. Shaw.
Sergeant Harry Cooper.
Sergeant Robert P. Pfeiffer.

General Baker Retires

The War Department has announced that Maj. Gen. Walter C. Baker, Chief of the Chemical Warfare Service, was retired from active service upon his own application on 30 April 1941. General Baker's four year term of office as Chief of the Chemical Warfare Service would have expired on 23 May 1941. His successor has not yet been appointed.

General Baker was born in Chester, Pa., 22 Sept. 1877. He started his military career in the National Guard of Pennsylvania in Nov. 1896, volunteering with his company in the Spanish American War. This organization was designated Co. C, 6th Pennsylvania Volunteer Infantry.

General Baker was commissioned in the Regular Army as Second Lieutenant, Artillery Corps, in June, 1902, and served with the Coast Artillery in the several grades until December, 1920. During the first World War he held temporary grades of Major, Lieutenant Colonel and Colonel, and was an duty with the 88th Division at Camp Dodge, Iowa, and later as Assistant and Executive Assistant to the Chief of the Transportation Service. For this latter service, he was awarded the Distinguished Service Medal.

General Baker transferred from the Coast Artillery Corps to the Chemical Warfare Service in December, 1920; serving in the office of the Chief; in the office of the Assistant Secretary of War; as Commanding Officer, Edgewood Arsenal, Maryland; and at First Corps Area Headquarters, Boston, Mass., until May 1937, when he was appointed Chief of the Chemical Warfare Service with rank of Major General.

General Baker is a graduate of the following military schools: Coast Artillery School ..... 1910
Army War College ..... 1923
Command and General Staff School .. 1924
Army Industrial College ..... 1925
Chemical Warfare School ..... 1933 and in February 1941 received the degree of Doctor of Military Science from the Pennsylvania Military College, Chester, Pa.

Mail for Troops at Atlantic Bases

Instructions that will facilitate the delivery of mail for troops stationed in the Atlantic bases were announced today by the War Department.

The numerical designations for Army Post Officers (APO) at the bases are as follows:

Base	APO No.
Newfoundland .....	801
Bermuda .....	802
Trinidad .....	803
Jamaica .....	804
Saint Lucia .....	805
Antigua .....	806
British Guiana .....	807
Bahamas .....	808

Sub-stations may be established also if necessary. These will be indicated by a letter suffix after the number, in this manner:

APO 801-A

Mail for Army personnel at the bases should be addressed clearly, giving the grade and full name, including middle name spelled out, of the person addressed. His army serial number, if known, should be written after the name. The letter or number of the company or other similar organization of which the soldier is a member should also be part of the address. Next should come the designation of the regiment or separate battalion, if any, to which the company belongs. Finally, the Armp post office number and the base in which it is located should be given.

The name and address of the sender of the letter should be written on the face of the envelope, in the upper left corner. Space should be allowed to the left of the address for notations in case it is not possible to deliver the mail at the address given.

The following is an example of a correctly addressed envelope—(street unit and post office numbers should be underlined):

From John B. Doe,
205 W. _____ St.,
Boston, Mass.
Private Willard Jackson Roe
(Army Serial No.)
Company F,
—th Infantry,
APO 501, Newfoundland.

Lindbergh's Resignation

Charles A. Lindbergh this week submitted his resignation as a colonel in the Army Air Corps Reserve. It was promptly accepted by the War Department.

Colonel Lindbergh's letter to the President follows:

"My Dear Mr. President:
"Your remarks at the White House press conference on 25 April, involving my reserve commission in the United States Army Air Corps, have, of course, disturbed me greatly. I had hoped that I might exercise my rights as an American citizen, to place my viewpoint before the people of my country in time of peace, without giving up the privilege of serving my country as an Air Corps officer in the event of war.

"But since you, in your capacity as President of the United States and Commander in Chief of the Army, have clearly implied that I am no longer of use to this country as a reserve officer, and in view of other implications that you, my President and my superior officer, have made concerning my loyalty to my country, my character, and my motives, I can see no honorable alternative to tendering my resignation as colonel in the United States Air Corps Reserve.

"I am, therefore, forwarding my resignation to the Secretary of War.

"I take this action with the utmost regret, for my relationship with the Air Corps is one of the things that has meant most to me in life. I place it second only to my right as a citizen to speak freely to my fellow countrymen, and to discuss with them the issues of peace and war which confront our nation in this crisis.

"I will continue to serve my country to the best of my ability as a private citizen.

"Respectfully,
"CHARLES A. LINDBERGH."

Colonel Lindbergh's resignation was accepted without comment by the War Department which declined to make public its letter of acceptance. His letter followed by several days a press conference at which the President had likened him inferentially to the "copperheads" of Civil War days. A white House spokesman said, in commenting on Lindbergh's resignation: "This leads me to wonder whether he is also returning his decoration to Mr. Hitler."

At the White House press conference the preceding week the President was asked why Col. Lindbergh has not been called into active service, the President said he believed he is still on the reserve list but to understand why he is not called to go back to the war between the confederacy and the north. In that war foreigners were allowed to fight on both sides because they believed in what was being fought for. But there were appeasers on both sides who were not called on to fight. They were called Vallandingham's, said the President, mentioning the name of the foremost "Copperhead" of the civil war.

There were appeasers also, said the President, at Valley Forge who pleaded with Washington to surrender because they said he could not win. Worth reading, the President remarked, is what Tom Paine said at that time about keeping on fighting with Washington. Asked if he were still talking about Lindbergh, the President replied in the affirmative.

State Guards

Department has issued some 45,891 pieces of equipment. This equipment, under provisions of the bill authorizing the establishment of the State Guard units consists chiefly of Enfield rifles, model 1917, with accessories, belts, canteens, and other accessories and equipment.

While equipment to be issued to the State Guard units will be more or less limited, each state will receive all the rifles needed, the only item of equipment in abundance.

To receive equipment from the War Department any state requesting more than 5,000 rifles is required to bond an officer, to be designated as State Property Officer, for the amount of $10,000. States receiving less than 5,000 rifles will be required a bond of $5,000 for its Property officer.

Uniforms for the State Guard are not to be furnished by the War Department, therefore information already received indicates that the uniforms will be of varied design and color. Each state is allowed to choose the color and design of the uniforms to be worn by the State Guard without restriction as long as they are easily distinguished from the United States Army, Navy, or Marine Corps, and are easily identifiable as State Guard uniforms.

The following table shows the status, as of 30 April, of those states which have organized their State Guards:

The following States have been organized and are undergoing weekly instruction. Property Officer has been bonded, and State has received equipment; namely, rifles, bayonets, belts, etc.

	Equipment Strength	Received

Officers' Reading Course

Approximately 700 books were recommended for "outside" reading for officers of the Army in Training Circular No. 25 issued this week. The new list of books is intended to serve as an outline for officers' reading and the circular carefully points out that additional, or different, books may have to be obtained for officers studying a particular course.

The list includes books on philosophy and psychology, finance, history, technical works for all branches of the service, studies of government both domestic and foreign, as well as many autobiographies of prominent soldiers and statesmen.

Award Soldier's Medal

The War Department announced this week that Private Anthony T. Lauro, Service Battery, 244th Coast Artillery, New York National Guard, has been awarded the Soldier's Medal for "heroism displayed in rescuing an enlisted man from drowning in Lake Ontario near Fort Ontario, New York on 27 August."

Improper Use of Runways

Commanding Generals in the Field are being advised by the Adjutant General of the Army as follows:

"The following extract of a letter from this office, this date, is quoted below for your information and guidance:

"Recently an airplane on official business was prevented from landing on the airdrome * * * because of the fact that the runways were occupied by troops engaged in military review, involving the traverse of tanks, tractors and other track laying vehicles over the asphalt surface of runways. Such practice, if continued may result in loss of life and destruction of government property in case of emergency landings of aircraft, as well as the destruction of the runways themselves by the passage of vehicles for which they were not designed.

"It is therefore directed that the use of airdromes at all camps, posts or stations for any purpose other than the operation of aircraft be prohibited."

Deferment of Reserves

The Adjutant General's Office has issued instructions to Corps Area and Department Commanders and to each Chief of Arm or Service, that War Department requisitions must be filled and that Corps Area Commanders must be the judge as to what deferments are to be granted.

The Adjutant General cites the fact that deferment of Reserve officers in key positions is a deferment only; that the deferment is made in order to permit the industry to train another individual to fill the key position. When the Corps Area cannot meet its requirements unless that Reserve officer be called to duty, he will with due notice be called. The letter points out that the best policy to follow, in regard to deferments, is "a basic policy, the premise that War Department requisitions must be filled, and that unless an officer has been transferred to the War Department Reserve Pool, he is available to meet any quota by the War Department, regardless of whether he is engaged in an essential defense duty or not."

USMA Sports

West Point, N. Y.—The eyes of the intercollegiate track world will focus on West Point this Saturday, 3 May as Army's undefeated squad entertains the University of Iowa, Dartmouth and Columbia in the first quadrangular meet ever held here.

Military Academy officials plan to make such a meet an annual fixture on the first Saturday of May.

From out of the Midwest to show their wares on the Military Academy's newly-constructed oval and field will come the Hawkeyes, marking the first time in the school's history that a complete University of Iowa track team has ever competed in the East. Dartmouth, of course, will represent New England in this inter-sectional four-way meet, with Columbia and Army the hopes of Eastern fans.

Thrills are in store in other sports for those fans who visit West Point this Saturday. Army's lacrosse team, unconquered in five starts thus far, tackles Johns Hopkins University of Baltimore, perennial contenders for national championship honors. Among those teams which have fallen victims to the West Point stickmen are Syracuse, Springfield, Harvard, Penn and Maryland, last year's national intercollegiate title-winners.

The West Point baseball team will play Columbia at New York, but the Army Plebes will engage the Columbia Freshmen on the Military Academy diamond. The golf team meets Amherst on the Storm King Club course at nearby Cornwall, N. Y., and the tennis squad plays host to Cornell in its third Eastern Intercollegiate League match.

The opening outdoor polo game of the year with Yale, originally scheduled for West Point, will be played instead at New Haven this Saturday.

No admission will be charged for any of the events, which start at these times: Track, 2 p. m.; lacrosse, 2:15; golf, 2:00; tennis, 2:30; Plebe baseball, 2:45.

United States Naval Academy

The usual three months' midshipmen cruises will not be made during the summer of 1941 due to the difficulty in making vessels available, and midshipmen of all classes will remain at the Naval Academy during the summer term except for a period of leave for the first, second and third classes. The routine and studies of that term will be adjusted to summer conditions and midshipmen of the third class will be given short cruises in vessels attached to the Naval Academy and in district craft.

The following Naval Academy academic schedule has been approved. It was revealed in a report of the House Naval Affairs Committee on the bill H. R. 4368 authorizing a reduction in the course of instruction at the academy:

First class (1942): Leave, 2 June to 11 July; Summer term, 14 July to 25 September; Fall term, 29 September to 13 December, and Graduation 19 December.

Second class (1943): Leave, 2 June to 11 July; Summer term, 14 July to 25 September; Fall term, 29 September to 20 December, and Winter term, 22 December to June, 1942.

Third and fourth classes (1944 and 1945): Leave for the third class only, one-third at a time; Fall term, 29 September to 20 December; Winter term, 22 December to 14 March 1942, and Spring term, 16 March to 13 June 1942.

CNO Discusses Convoys

American naval units are now patrolling the Atlantic 2,000 miles out from our shores, Adm. Harold R. Stark, Chief of Naval Operations, told the United States Chamber of Commerce 29 April, in a luncheon address broadcast over a MBS network.

"I wish I could talk to you about convoys," Admiral Stark said, and then he disclosed that Navy ships were combing the seas as far as mid-Atlantic and beyond.

Admiral Stark's statement came close upon the heels of President Roosevelt's intimation 25 April that the Navy was maintaining what was in effect lookouts for British convoys, though British ships were not actually being convoyed.

Latin American Visitors

Eleven chiefs of the existing navies of the western hemisphere, who have accepted an invitation by Adm. Harold R. Stark, Chief of Naval Operations, to visit the United States will arrive at Jacksonville, Fla. on Monday, 5 May. The Latin American naval chiefs will be met by American naval officers and escorted on a tour of all the chief naval stations, shipbuilding yards, and the like in America.

Admiral Harold R. Stark, Chief of Naval Operations made the following statement: "The visit of Latin American Naval Chiefs to the United States will be productive of intimate conversations with our naval officers and provide the defenders of our sister republics with a working knowledge of our naval establishment and industrial system. The spirit of mutual confidence and cooperative thought engendered will result in valuable suggestions which will immeasurably improve the effectiveness of Hemisphere security."

Names of the Latin American naval chiefs who will take part in the tour follow:

Brazil—Vice Admiral Jose Machado de Castro e Silva, Chief of Staff of the Navy, and Lt. Frederico G. Huet de Oliveira Sampaio, aide.

Chile—Vice Adm. Julio Allard P., Commander-in-Chief and Director General of the Navy, and Lt. Comdr. Hernan H. Cubillos, aide.

Argentina—Vice Adm. Jose Guisanola, Chief of the Navy General Staff, and Comdr. Teodoro Hartung, aide.

Uruguay—Rear Adm. Gustavo A. Schröder, Inspector General of the Navy, and Lt. Gabriel Retamoso-Irastorza, aide.

Peru—Rear Adm. Carlos Rotaide G. del V. Chief of Staff of the Navy, and Comdr. Ernesto Rodriguez, aide.

Mexico—Commodore David Coelho Ochoa, Director General of the Fleet, and Comdr. Manuel Zermeno Aranco, aide.

Cuba—Capt. Julio Diaz Arguelles y Fernandez Castro, Chief of Staff of the Constitutional Navy, and Lt. (jg) Felipe Cadenas y Aguilera, aide.

Colombia—Lt. Col. Francisco Tomayo Cortes, Director General of the Navy, and Lt. Antonio J. Tanco, aide.

Ecuador—Comdr. Cesar A. Mogollon Cardenas, Commandant General of the Navy, and Comdr. Francisco Fernandez Madrid, aide.

Venezuela—Comdr. Antonio Picardi, Director of the Navy.

Paraguay—Comdr. Pedro Morinigo Delgado, Director General of the Navy, and Lt. Adolfo Roig-Franco, aide.

Admiral Andrews for Convoys

Rear Adm. Adolphus Andrews, Commandant of the Third Naval District, called for the use of American convoys, if necessary, to insure delivery of lend-lease aid to Britain. The Admiral made this declaration at the annual luncheon meeting of the Chamber of Commerce of the State of New York, during which he assured the audience that the United States Navy "represents the finest, the most efficient fighting force afloat today."

Lighter-Than-Aircraft

The President has approved plans of the Navy Department for the first year's schedule of a two-year program for lighter-than-aircraft, and early action by the House Naval Affairs Committee on the bill H. R. 3537 or a substitute measure authorizing $17,000,000 for shore bases is expected.

The program calls for ultimate construction of 48 lighter-than-aircraft with the establishment of three shore bases the first year. The shore bases will be established in the Boston area at South Weymouth, Mass.; in the Hatteras area at Elizabeth City, N. C., and in the San Francisco, Calif., area at a site to be chosen later.

Temporary Navy Promotions

Hearings on the bill H. R. 4473 authorizing temporary advanced rank for Navy and Marine Corps personnel will be started by the House Committee on Naval Affairs on Monday, 12 May. This promotion bill appears to be receiving the support, in principle, of a majority of members of the committee although several members have indicated an intention to seek amendments to cover various situations.

Warrant Officers Appointed

The following enlisted men were issued acting appointments as warrant officers, to rank from 14 April 1941:

Machinist—Laurence F. Seaman, CMM, USS Whitney; Lauren H. Bartach, CWT, USS Detroit.

Acting Pay Clerk—Leo C. Lemire, Ylc, Office of Naval Attache, London England.

Navy Recruiting Activity

A total of 1,158 enlistments in the Navy were reported during the week ending 26 April by Navy Recruiting Stations. Of this total 1,074 were first enlistments, 54 were former service men enlisted in former ratings and 30 were reenlistments.

All Organized Units to Sea

Secretary of the Navy Knox announced this week that mobilization of the remaining inactive fleet divisions of the Organized Naval Reserve will be completed between 5 May and 30 May.

Commandants of naval districts will issue orders during this period affecting 45 divisions comprising approximately 230 officers and 4000 men. The following divisions will be ordered to duty aboard auxiliaries and naval district vessels:

First Naval District: Boston, 2nd Division; New Bedford, 7th Division; Fall River, 10th Division; Worcester, 11th Division; Springfield, 12th Division; Lynn, 14th Division; Portland, Me., 19th and 20th Divisions.

SecNav Would Visit Fleet

Secretary of the Navy Knox this week said that if he could possibly get away from Washington this summer, he would repeat his visit of last year to the Pacific Fleet.

The Secretary's visit to the United States Fleet last year was made during the annual fleet problem. No such problem is scheduled for the fleet this year. Colonel Knox pointed out that the fleet units based on Hawaii are constantly engaged in fleet exercises.

Inoculate Navy Personnel

The Navy is making arrangements immediately to give immunizing inoculation against tetanus to all personnel of the U. S. Marine Corps and all naval personnel either serving with the Marine Corps or likely to be sent to shore with them on landing operations. The alum precipitated tetanus toxoid will be used for this purpose. Two initial doses at four-week intervals are to be given and a subsequent vaccination of a single stimulating dose at the end of the first year.

One of the most serious conditions in all types of industrial accidents and in all military operations is tetanus and the use of this inoculation is intended to prevent its occurrence in the Navy. While the immediate use is for the Marine Corps and naval landing forces, its use will soon be extended to all officers and men of the Navy, it was indicated this week.

Enlisted Inventor Commended

The Chief of the Bureau of Navigation, Rear Adm. Chester W. Nimitz, has sent a letter of commendation to Millard Fillmore Haley, ACMM, for his resourcefulness and ingenuity in devising a portable propeller hoist which has simplified pulling and installation of propellers.

Mr. Haley was born at Snowville, Va., 7 Dec., 1904, and enlisted in the Navy 11 June, 1923, at Richmond, Va. He is now attached to Torpedo Squadron 5.

"Boy! Have we been missing something!"

A GENERAL MOTORS MASTERPIECE

FOR A NUMBER OF YEARS, we had been driving lowest-priced cars because we thought we had to. Then one day a friend of ours, who owns a Pontiac, persuaded us to talk to our Pontiac dealer.

"And what an enlightening visit this was! We had no idea a big, beautiful, luxurious Pontiac "Torpedo" with Fisher body was priced so close to all three. When we figured the monthly payments, the difference was hardly noticeable.

"But what a difference in cars! More comfort, finer performance, easier handling plus the added prestige a Pontiac provides. And our friend said Pontiac's economy would rival that of any car. Boy—have we been missing something! But not any more—we're Pontiac owners now. And we're urging all the people we meet to see their Pontiac dealers!"

"The nation that cannot resist aggression is constantly exposed to it."—CLEVELAND.

OUR PRIORITY LIST

1. Legislative assurance, now, that our land, sea, and air forces will be maintained at such strength as may be determined by the War Department General Staff and the General Board of the Navy to be necessary to guard the nation and its interests against any enemy or combination of enemies.
2. Upward revision of pay schedules for commissioned, warrant and enlisted personnel, active and retired; all temporarily promoted officers to receive pay of grade in which serving.
3. A long range study by the General Board of the Navy to the end that an equitable and just system of promotion for the line and staff of the Navy and Marine Corps be enacted into law.
4. Revision of pension laws to assure service widows a living income.
5. Compensation for service personnel who use privately owned automobiles on government business.

THERE IS NO QUESTION, of course, of the right of Congress to investigate the activities of the Services and the expenditures being made in connection with their expansion. Nor is there any question of the value of investigations, which are not mere fishing expeditions. But we are moved to protest against probes, which are destructive of morale, and which take Officers away from duties that require all their energy and judgment in the monumental task of fitting the Nation to meet what is obviously coming, the supreme crisis of war. Take, for instance, the inquiry being made into the development at Fort Meade. Had Congress over the years provided funds for this development, there would have been orderly construction, and the usual Service economy would have been exercised to obtain results at the lowest cost. But Executives and Congress, fearful of pacifist agitation, confident there would be no war in our time, to quote Mr. Chamberlain, held Army appropriations down to the point of niggardliness, and it was only during the eight years of Mr. Roosevelt that sums were allotted, not for camp expansion, but for imperatively needed camp improvement. Following the German victories a year ago, the decision to arm greatly was reached, and then provision had to be made hurriedly for the National Guard called into Federal Service, and the numbers of young selectees ordered to duty. The newspapers were filled with reports of Union exactions, of delays in getting mechanics, and of more delays caused by weather conditions. Finally, the Army High Command got things going, and the result was accommodations for the troops. There are charges that extravagance and waste occurred at Meade. It remains to be seen whether they are well founded. We doubt if they amount to more than could have been expected under the pressure of haste demanded by the necessity of providing adequately for the officers and men called to duty. It has even been said that the hospital at Meade was put in its present location, in order to save the golf course, a libel upon Maj. Gen. James K. Parsons, at the time Third Corps Area Commander. Neither General Parsons nor any other responsible officer would have permitted any such consideration to enter into his decision as to the best way in which to arrange for the various needs of the troops. General Parsons, with his usual forthrightness, has taken full responsibility for the layout of the camp. That he would do. It then has remained for the Committee to call subordinate officers and contractors, and from the mass of their testimony will emerge exactly nothing. Some members of the Committee feel that the important thing now is to prepare, and they are beginning to criticize the call of officers merely for heckling purposes. It is to be hoped Congress finally will conclude it to be the part of wisdom in this critical emergency to give to the Officers the trust they have enjoyed heretofore, and leave for the future inquiries into charges that may appear to have a basis of truth.

PRESIDENTIAL approval of the first year's increment of the Navy's lighter-than-air program marks a concrete step in developing this important and valuable phase of naval defense. With this approval the Navy Department can now seek legislative authority looking toward the ultimate construction of 48 patrol type blimps and provision for basing facilities. Important as this is, there yet remains the vital matter of large rigid dirigibles the usefulness of which has been demonstrated. The rigid dirigible possesses many important military characteristics. It has a great radius of action, it can cover a vastly larger area than can any surface type vessel, it can shuttle from coast to coast quickly as it is needed, and it can carry, launch, and retrieve a sizeable complement of heavier-than-air planes. These virtues have been demonstrated by vessels of earlier type. The record of the German trans-Atlantic dirigible service attests to the reliability of the dirigible—the loss of the Hindenburg being directly attributable to the lack of helium. Possessing the only known supply of this valuable gas, the United States is in an enviable position to utilize this gift of nature for its defense. Furthermore, there are in the Navy a number of officers and enlisted men experienced in dirigible maintenance and operation who are ready and anxious to show what this type of aircraft can do. The past losses in lives and material will have been in vain unless the nation profits by the lessons learned. There is authorization on the statute books (1938 Naval Appropriation bill) for a 3,000,000 cubic-foot dirigible. Congress should immediately appropriate the funds for its construction and operation.

Service Humor

Camoufloogy Wit' a Floy Floy!

That slaphappy publication, the Panama Coast Artillery News, in its 19 April issue took due note of the War Department policy against publication of any item that might indicate "the official designation of any unit or component thereof, or . . . any information indicating the units, composition or equipment thereof" in overseas departments.

Even the familiar sketch of "El toro ferdilliza" Foster, editor of the novel organization publication, has been camouflaged by Staff Artist Haring. Haring's humorous line sketches all bear the marks of camouflage, while the type matter of the mimeographed paper is full of smudges, due to deletion of every reference of or to an unit or locality.

Designating itself as a "screwball" publication, the PCA News dedicated this issue to "Camoufloogy Wit' a Floy Floy."

Shoo Fly!

"Boys," said the good old clergyman to the boys in the Bible class, "you should never lose your tempers. You should never swear, or get excited or angry. I never do. Now to illustrate. You see that big fly on my nose. A good many wicked men would get angry at that fly, but I don't. I never lose my temper. I simply say—'Go away, fly—go away—' Good God! It's a bee, damn it all!"

—Bamboo Breezes.

Hm-m!

"Dad, how can guns kick when they have no legs?" asked Bert.

"Don't ask absurd questions," declared his father.

"Well, they haven't any legs, have they?"

"Certainly not."

"Then what's the use of their having breeches?"

—Fifth Corps News.

Sad, but True!

"Hips on shoulders," shouted the new colored Corporal the first morning out with a squad on P. T.

"You all can't do that," came a voice from the rear ranks.

"Sho' 'nuf," admitted the Corporal as he ordered, "Hips down!"

—The Duckboard.

We think that "EDA" who contributed our 19 April limerick supplies the best closing line, so here 'tis:

A barber served time in jail

For offering haircuts by mail.

His stunt, so it seems,

Was born in his dreams,

Which made it quite certain to fail.

For completion on 17 May "MMK" offer this jingle which contains a word of advice to all trainees:

There once was a trainee named Brier,

Who was foolish enough to fire;

A volley of shots,

At the kitcheneer's pots,

ASK THE JOURNAL

SEND your queries to the ARMY AND NAVY JOURNAL QUESTION EDITOR and an answer will be given in this column as soon as possible after receipt.

B. T. S.—Officials in Washington can not say whether quarters for NCO's of the first three grades will be available at Ft. Eustis, Va., at any given time since conditions are changing constantly. Of course, if such quarters are not available for your dependents, you will receive quarters allowance.

A. C. H.—Reserve and National Guard officers, under the National Defense Act, count previous active duty service in computing rank. This service includes summer camp but not armory drills for guardsmen. The National Guard Bureau furnishes data on relative rank of guardsmen inducted; date of rank of a Reserve officer is stated in his order to active duty.

C. G. W.—Travel allowance for non-commissioned officers of the first three grades on permanent change of station, when travel by privately owned conveyance is authorized, is three cents per mile. Allowance for dependents under similar circumstances equals the cost of commercial transportation.

J. H. R.—Representative Overton Brooks has introduced a bill H. R. 2228, to provide that "no commissioned officer of the United States Army shall receive less basic pay than any other officer of the same rank and length of commissioned service." The bill is designed to give to Regular Army officers serving temporarily in higher grades, base pay of the higher grade.

AMERICA'S MOST DISTINGUISHED BEER

Well Known Anywhere

★ In the Can that Opens like a Bottle and in the famous Brown Bottle that protects its Glorious Flavor.

COPYRIGHT 1941, JOS. SCHLITZ
 BREWING CO., MILWAUKEE, WIS.

The world-wide demand for Schlitz is a fitting tribute to this magnificent beer. Its absolute uniformity and supreme quality have made it the unchallenged choice of lovers of fine beer the world over. Until you try Schlitz you'll never know how really good a bottle of beer can be.

"For almost a century the supreme quality of Schlitz draught beer has made it the choice of those who love real draught beer."

THE BEER

THAT MADE MILWAUKEE FAMOUS

We even throw 'em downstairs

There's a steep flight of steel-treaded, concrete stairs in our factory.

We've been known to put a new Royal in a packing box and hurl it down this staircase.

Just to see if the machine can take it!

The Royal can. Never yet has this grueling test impaired the machine's ability to type perfectly without repair or adjustment.

SERVICE NEWS AND GOSSIP

Foreign Affairs—Vital issues have sprung from the German victories in the Balkans, which concern the United States as well as Britain. Basically, those issues relate to the safe delivery of the supplies we are dispatching to England and her forces in the Near East. There was apprehension that unless the United States should give assurance of its purpose to participate in the protection of the merchantmen carrying the supplies, the Churchill Ministry would fall, and it would be succeeded by a Ministry disposed to make peace. There was and is the prospect of the Germans pushing toward Alexandria and into Iraq and Iran, which would compel British withdrawal from the Mediterranean, enable the products of North Africa to be safely transported to the Axis Powers, result in the seizure of the Mosul oil field, and further incline Turkey and Russia to the Axis. Also threatening is the absorption of Spain and Portugal into the German orbit, a prospect which probably will be delayed because of the food situation in these countries, but if done would provide greater facilities for Axis naval forces in connection with the battle of the Atlantic; and not lost sight of are the nuisance operations of Japan in the Far East. It follows that the survival of the British Empire depends more than ever upon our ability to be not only an Arsenal of Democracy, but upon our cooperation with the King's Navy for the delivery of munitions to the Battle Fronts. Both Premier Churchill and Lord Halifax, the British Ambassador, in their addresses directed to the American people, stressed confidence in ultimate victory, provided that England should have the fullest help that we can give.

There is no doubt the promises of support which the President and his Cabinet gave during the past ten days, will assure the continuance of the Churchill Ministry. At least Mr. Churchill now finds his position so satisfactory that he has consented to a vote of confidence in Parliament on the losses of English and Anzac troops in Greece, and on the foreign and military policy pursued in the Mediterranean. Statements made in the speeches delivered by Mayor La Guardia in Canada and by Members of the Cabinet, which were endorsed and reinforced by the President, will enable the Premier when the debate occurs to show the determination of our government to stand by England. Here are a few extracts: Mayor La Guardia: "Off shore defense, as we understand it, is to defend our shores *** at three hours distance by airplane doing 333 miles an hour." Secretary Hull: "Aid (to Britain) must reach its destination in the shortest of time in maximum quantity. So ways must be found to do this." Secretary Knox: "We cannot allow our goods to be sunk in the Atlantic—we shall be beaten if we do." Secretary Wickard: "I think it is time the farmers and the people of this country got excited about the world situation. *** Nowadays ostrich nations don't last very long." The President not only confirmed the assurance La Guardia gave to Canada and England, but went farther in stating that our neutrality patrol would be extended as far out in the "Seven Seas" as the protection of the American Hemisphere demands. In this connection, Secretary Stimson warned that our troops may be used in regions outside of the American Hemisphere. The President agreed with Hull's faith in "the ultimate triumph" of the principles of humanity. He reiterated Colonel Knox's statement that "we are in the fight to stay." He was as solemn and determined as Secretary Wickard in emphasizing the gravity of our situation, and deprecated the curious attitude of "a minority" of our people who thought the Dictators would win, and classified Lindbergh as a "copperhead." In the course of his remarks, which were addressed to the Press, he threw his bomb about Greenland, implying that Germans are on the Island, and that he had moved to counteraction.

The Senate Foreign Relations Committee backed the President's policy by refusing to report favorably or unfavorably the Tobey anti-convoy resolution. Thus there remains in the hands of the Chief Executive the moral as well as the legal power to act in the matter of protecting merchantmen as he sees fit. The President explained to the press the difference between convoy, which he described as an escort for resistance to attack, and patrol as "fundamentally a reconnaissance operation." Reconnaissance, as the Services know, is a survey, or examination, of an area especially when made in time of war with a view to ascertaining an enemy's position, strength and purposes. Mr. Roosevelt further said that the patrol would report to him the location of any belligerent vessels sighted. The report, as Secretary Early had said a few days before, would be made in plain English. The Axis Powers will, of course, realize that this will mean that nearby British warships will pick up the report and proceed to the position given for the purpose of attack upon the enemy raider or submarine. The Germans also will be calculating as to the distance out into the seven seas we propose to patrol. La Guardia spoke of a thousand miles from the easternmost point of Canada, which would be half way across the Atlantic on the Great Circle route and be within striking distance of the line dividing the Western from the Eastern Hemisphere. The President explained that German victories, showing that attacks on New Foundland, Greenland, Bermuda, Trinidad and Brazil now were more possible, made it necessary to extend the 300 mile safety zone fixed by the Panama agreement, and to comprehend areas from which hostilities might be launched. What he had in mind is, for example, Dakar, in French Senegal, Africa. Some months ago he visualized a hostile air force flying to Brazil and thence operating against the Panama Canal and our Middle West. He has in mind, too, the Azores and Cape Verde Islands, which, in case of the occupation of Portugal, would be useful bases for trans-Atlantic operations. In this connection, it is of interest that the Portuguese are strengthening their forces in those Islands, apparently being fearful that the Germans, by submarine and plane, will attempt to take possession of them. Under the world view of the President, our patrol will operate wherever necessary for the protection of our Hemisphere, which is interpreted to cover waters through which pass strategic materials required for defense.

Strategically, of course, it is essential in war to have the operations take place as far as possible from home. It is in accordance with this principle that our plans are being made. The justification for the policy determined upon was expressed first by Secretary Knox, who described the encirclement of our country which the Triple Alliance is gradually accomplishing, second, by Secretary Hull, who possesses evidence that the Totalitarian States do have designs upon the New World, its principles, possessions and way of life, and, third, by the President in his suggestion of German presence in Greenland. From time to time the President has spoken of German activities in these Islands, of weather observers temporarily placed there to supply information to planes and submarines, of plane reconnaissances in March probably to ascertain the strength of our forces, and the use of Fjords by submarines for refueling. We are making it clear that we will not, under the Monroe Doctrine, permit the use of the Island for belligerent operations. As both Denmark and Germany have repudiated the treaty we made with the Danish Minister here, probably they will tell us that what they are doing is none of our business. Thus, this frozen waste may become important as a cause for our participation in the war.

German domination of the Dardanelles, which has resulted in the seizure of strategic Islands in the Aegean Sea, undoubtedly is disturbing to Moscow and Turkey. They expect the Germans to convoy troops to Syria and thence march on Iraq and Iran and in cooperation with the column in Cyrenaica move to the capture of Alexandria and the Suez Canal. This will shut the Russians from the Indian Ocean and make the Mediterranean an Axis Lake. The danger of this prospect is fully understood in Ankara and Moscow, and it may have been responsible for the decree of the Soviet Government forbidding the transit of war materials through the Union, and reports of the arrival of reinforcements upon its western frontier. However, neither the Russians nor the Turks are apt at this time to offend Germany too greatly; the latter has 260 divisions, many of which could be employed for operations against them. In the Far East, there are indications of Japanese activities simultaneously with the Axis operations in the Mediterranean region. Coupled with the revival of the report that foreign Minister Matsukata may come to the United States are so-called peace terms printed by the Foreign Office organ, the Japan Times Advertiser. If the two are to be associated, then, according to what is said in Washington, Mr. Matsukata may as well stay home. Aside from contemplating superior sea power for the Triple Alliance, the Times Advertiser's terms would forbid American bases in the Far East or Alaska, compel reduction in our strength in Hawaii, and while graciously permitting us to form a hegemony over South America, would require us to grant complete freedom of trade and opportunity to the Axis states and Japan. The answer to this ballon d'essai has been most effectively given at Chung King by Capt. James Roosevelt, USMC, who presented a letter to Chiang Kai Shek from the President, and who has made it clear that this country proposes to give all-out aid to China.

Coast Artillery Corps—Several additional officers of the Coast Artillery Corps this week were ordered to the new barrage balloon training center at Camp Davis, N. C., organization of which was reported last week in the ARMY AND NAVY JOURNAL. Officers of the Coast Artillery Corps and the Air Corps are working in closest liaison to perfect plans for operation of the training center. The Air Corps probably will transfer to Camp Davis the 3rd Barrage Balloon Squadron, now at Ft. Lewis, Wash., to serve as a nucleus for creation of additional squadrons. That corps also will procure equipment for the new squadrons.

The recently enacted 5th Supplemental National Defense Appropriation Bill carries $1,548,000 for the procurement of equipment for five groups of barrage balloon squadrons. A group usually consists of three squadrons, which would indicate that perhaps 14 additional squadrons will be formed along the lines of the recently organized 3rd Squadron. One of these groups will be stationed temporarily at Camp Davis, N. C. A search is now being made for suitable sites for barrage balloon training centers. Since these balloons are often sent to heights of about 6,000 feet, raising thin cables with them, it is necessary that locations be chosen which will not interfere with commercial or military aviation.

Temporarily, facilities at Camp Davis originally intended for two 2,000-men semi-mobile antiaircraft regiments are being utilized.

Officers so far ordered to the barrage balloon training center include Col. Robert Arthur, Lt. Col. Harold R. Jackson, Lt. Col. Perry W. Lewis, Lt. Col. Porter P. Lowry, Lt. Col. Robert E. Turley, Jr., Maj. Melton A. Hatch, Maj. John W. Dwyer, Maj. William H. Papenfoth and Capt. Gilbert N. Adams.

Once again the Panama Coast Artillery under the command of Maj. Gen. Sanderford Jarman has come to the foreground with a new enterprise. The Jarman Jungles, unable to come into their respective posts for athletic activity, will have the athletics brought to them at their positions deep in Panamanian jungle. It is now possible to construct at practically every position such recreational facilities as softball and baseball diamonds, handball courts, tennis courts, badminton courts, volley ball courts, boxing arenas, basketball courts, pee wee golf courses and any other types of courts considered as necessary by the battery personnel. Through the generosity of the 11th Engineers the Coast Artillery was able to secure some very important labor-saving devices which will cut down to a minimum the many man hours required for such projects.

For over a year the Coast Artillery has been inactive in Department Athletic competition. Due to the intensive training and the imperative speed of barracks construction the men of the Coast Artillery Corps were somewhat cramped for time so far as indulgence in sports was concerned. Now, however, the men will have their own athletic fields located in the immediate vicinity of many of these jungle positions. It is the hope of the command athletic and recreation officer that the positions on the Pacific side will have their projects completed by 5 May and the Atlantic side, by 5 June.

Corps of Engineers—An activity of the Corps of Engineers of increasing importance is that of the units assigned to the General Headquarters Air Force. These aviation regiments and companies are attached to the various components of the GHQ Air Force and are charged with the construction and maintenance of landing fields in the theatre of operations. As a matter of practice, the engineer aviation troops generally are actively employed on this type of work at present for training purposes.

The 28th Engineer Regiment (Aviation), which lacks two of its three battalions, is now engaged in construction of landing fields in Alaska, upon completion of which, the unit will be stationed on the West Coast, probably at McChord Field, Wash. Organization of the 807th Engineer Company (Aviation) for station in Alaska was recently announced by the War Department. The Army has also announced the formation of two other aviation companies, each with a strength of five officers and 160 men—the 805th, for station in the Canal Zone; and the 806th, for station in Puerto Rico. The 804th Engineer Company (Aviation) has been transferred from Langley Field, Va., to Hawaii, leaving at Langley the 21st Engineer Regiment (Aviation). Other new aviation companies, with their assignments are: 803rd, Westover Field, Mass.; 80th, for station on the West Coast; 809th, for station in the Philippines, and the 810th, at MacDill Field, Fla.

Bureau of Medicine and Surgery—A new class, consisting of 15 medical officers of the regular Navy, has been selected for training in aviation medicine. This instruction, conducted at the School of Aviation Medicine at the Naval Air Station, Pensacola, Fla., was begun 7 April and will extend over a period of about 5 months. The flight surgeon's course at Pensacola consists of about two months of academic instruction in the basic subjects relating to aviation medicine, and about two months of indoctrinal flight instruction, which is followed by an additional period of practical work relating to the duties of a flight surgeon.

In addition to the above class of regular medical officers, 16 Reserve medical officers reported on 7 April for a two-months' course of instruction in aviation medicine, leading to the designation of aviation medical examiner. A class of 15 regular medical officers now under instruction at the school at Pensacola has recently completed its training and the members designated as naval flight surgeons and assigned duty with the aeronautical organization.

As a result of the aeronautical expansion program, the need of flight surgeons has been tremendously increased. To meet these demands, it is the intention to continue the training of a large number of medical officers in this specialty. Plans now provide for an additional class of 15 regular medical officers for training at Pensacola on or about 15 Aug. Insofar as practicable, this training will be limited to medical officers of the rank of lieutenant commander or below.

In order to render dental treatment in the new ships of the Navy, the latest and most modern dental equipment obtainable is being installed in the larger vessels. The USS North Carolina is an example of these new installations. The dental clinic is equipped with two units, two chairs and a complete dental x-ray department comparable to any dental clinic in civilian life. A recent competitive examination for commission in the Dental Corps of the Regular Navy qualified twenty-seven candidates. After a short course of indoctrination in the Naval Dental School, the newly commissioned dental officers will be sent to new construction afloat and ashore. On 7 July, the next examination for commission as lieutenant (junior grade) in the Navy Dental Corps will be held at the Naval Medical Center, Washington, D. C., the Naval Training Station, Great Lakes, Ill., and the Naval Training Station, San Diego, California.

The epidemic form of yellow fever does not exist today in or near the new naval bases acquired from Great Britain. However, the species of mosquito which transmits this disease is found fairly widespread in most of these bases and throughout the Caribbean area. For this reason, the Navy has established a policy of inoculating all personnel and their dependents who are being assigned to these bases.

The Medical Department of the Navy has made arrangements and contracts with one of the largest pharmaceutical houses in the United States to supply a bank containing 9,000 pints of dried plasma. This reserve will be augmented by a plasma bank to be established at the U. S. Naval Medical School, Washington, D. C., where liquid blood plasma will be stored for use in emergencies in the naval service.

Quartermaster Corps—Brig. Gen. Joseph E. Barzynski, Chief of the Transportation Division of the Quartermaster Corps, will be the guest of honor and principal speaker at a banquet sponsored by the motor transport industries of the Chicago area on Saturday, 17 May. Leading Chicago business, financial, industrial, military and professional men will join in paying tribute to General Barzynski, who is a native of Chicago. According to J. L. Keeshin, president of the Keeshin Freight Lines, who is chairman of the general committee on arrangements, the banquet "will serve to indicate the solidarity of the motor transport industries in this district in the plans for national defense." General Barzynski began his military career after graduating from West Point in 1905. His is a military family, his great grandfather having served under Napoleon. His son, Capt. Joseph E. Barzynski, jr., is also a graduate of West Point and is in the Army Air Corps.

Contracts totaling $3,278,437.50 for 1,000,000 pairs of shoes have been cleared by the Office of Production Management for the Quartermaster Corps.

Construction of 2,386 day rooms, which are designed to provide enlisted personnel with a place to read, write letters and otherwise spend their free time, is planned by the Quartermaster Corps for 25 different tent camps in various parts of the country. Previously day rooms have been furnished only to troops housed in barracks but hereafter will also be provided for companies and medical detachments in all permanent tent camps. Each day room is assigned to one particular organization and is for its use alone.

Air Corps—Various construction projects at nine Air Corps stations for improvements aggregating $6,740,119, has been authorized by the War Department and work on the projects will be started in the immediate future. Included in the work authorization were: grading drainage and bombing range facilities at Barksdale Field, La.; housing for locomotive and oil storage and armament school at Lowry Field, Denver, Colo.; runway extension, two hangars, magazines and other miscellaneous improvements at MacDill Field, Fla.; hangar extension and utilities addition at Mitchel Field, Long Island, N. Y.; heating plant and paving repair, Patterson Field, Ohio; runways, steam plant, equipment and repair buildings, Southeast Air Depot, Brookley Field, Ala.; reserve airplane parking area and 14 temporary warehouses at Sacramento Air Depot, Calif.; six temporary warehouses, Mobile Air Depot, Ala.; and runway construction, and additional storage facilities at Albuquerque, Military Airfield, N. M.

Use of tile as a construction material in facilities at Eglin Field, Valparaiso, Fla., instead of wood as originally planned, has been authorized by the War Department. The change in material adds approximately $381,937 to the estimated cost of the project, which calls for accommodations for 2,550 officers, cadets and enlisted men when completed.

The 73rd and 74th School Squadrons now stationed at Randolph Field, Texas, and the 75th and 76th School Squadrons at Kelly Field, Texas, have been ordered transferred to Ellington Field, Texas, for a permanent change of station on or about 25 April. Each of the squadrons consist of approximately 200 officers.

Flight D, 1st Photo Squadron, consisting of about 30 officers and men, will be transferred from Scott Field, Ill., to Bolling Field, D. C., at an early date for a permanent change of station.

Capt. Herbert B. Thatcher, Air Corps officer at Lawson Field, Ft. Benning, last week assumed command of the 97th Observation Squadron to succeed Maj. Reuben Kyle, Jr., who has been assigned to the Infantry School as Air Corp instructor.

Due to increased expansion of the Air Corps, there is a need for enlisted men for special training as weather observers and forecasters to fill numerous vacancies in those units. Accordingly orders have been issued to Air Corp station commanders to transfer to Weather Squadrons any enlisted men who are qualified for training as weather observers and forecasters.

Enlisted men selected for such duty will be sent to the Air Corps Technical Training School at Chanute Field, Rantoul, Ill., for a three months' weather forecasters' course, or a slightly shorter course in weather observation. To be eligible for the weather observing and forecasting courses, a man must be serving a three-year enlistment, have a high school education or its equivalent and show special aptitude for this type of training, as indicated by grades made in the Army Alpha and mathematics examinations. Candidates for the forecaster's course must have completed to observer training and must pass an entrance examination in elementary mathematics and physics.

The War Department has granted authority for construction for two Observation Squadrons, the 113th and the 153rd at Hattiesburg, Miss. Funds for the project were appropriated in the Fourth Supplemental National Defense Act and $456,805 has been reserved for the construction. Included in the construction are the following: hangar, mess, school buildings, night lighting, radio installations, and the like.

Naval Construction—Two additional submarines, a number of small fighting vessels and several auxiliaries were placed under contract by the Navy Department this week. The submarines were ordered from Mare Island Navy Yard after Rear Adm. W. L. Friedell, commandant of the yard, reported that the submarines already on order at the yard would be completed two months to a year ahead of schedule. Submarines previously placed on order by the Navy were 3,525 tons short of the authorizations in the Naval Expansion Act of 19 July 1940.

From Electric Boat Company's Elco Division, the Navy ordered 12 motor torpedo boats and 12 motor boat submarine chasers at a cost of $212,870 per vessel, or a total of $5,108,880.

Contract for three seaplane tenders was awarded to Los Angeles Shipbuilding and Dry Dock Corp., at a total cost of $39,750,000, and contract for three destroyer tenders went to Tampa Shipbuilding Co., for $40,257,000. These contracts had been held by Sun Shipbuilding and Dry Dock Co. and were cancelled by mutual consent in order that Sun might undertake work for the Maritime Commission.

Contract for eight sets of propelling machinery for coastal mine sweepers was also let by the Navy Department this week.

Ordnance Department—The Ordnance Training Center at Aberdeen Proving Ground, Md., is going in heavily for athletics with the hearty encouragement of Capt. Norman W. Smith, chief morale and recreation officer. The center entered a team in the recent Penn Relays at Philadelphia made up of Lts. Glenn Funk and Standley Haight, both of whom ran on the track team of the University of Nebraska; Lt. Chester Ross, a member of last year's Massachusetts Institute of Technology track team, and Roland Malone, a member of the 40th Ordnance Company, who runs an exceptionally fast quarter. In addition to track a league of eight soft ball teams has been organized on the post, a team of officers has been entered in the Harford County, Md., soft ball league, and other activities under way include boxing, badminton, baseball, volleyball, high ball and lacrosse. Captain Smith, the chief morale officer, formerly was athletic director at Wyoming Seminary, Kingston, Pa. He is being assisted by Lts. Francis P. Harrison, former coach at Woodberry Forest School, Orange, Va.; Bruce E. Ferguson, former coach at Western Maryland University, and L. B. Barth, former coach in Philadelphia high schools.

The first of four new theatres, containing 322 upholstered seats, has been completed at the Ordnance Training Center. Among those present at the opening were Col. Julian S. Hatcher, commanding officer of the Training Center, and his staff, and Lt. Col. George W. Outland, under whose direction the theatre was built and equipped.

Under Secretary of War Robert P. Patterson, witnessing the first medium tank manufactured by the Baldwin Locomotive Works at Eddystone, Pa., likened it to the launching of a ship and said: "This new ship is more than just a medium tank. It is a tank the design of which embodies the fruit of lessons learned in the battle of France. One can almost say that this tank has been through fire."

The first 37-mm. antiaircraft gun carriages produced by the Koppers Company, Bartlett Hayward Division of Baltimore, Md., was presented to Maj. Gen. Charles M. Wesson, Chief of Ordnance, at the company plant on Wednesday, 30 April. Later General Wesson addressed company officials and guests at a dinner. Among the Ordnance Department officials taking part were Brig. Gen. C. T. Harris, jr., Chief of the Industrial Service; Brig. Gen. B. O. Lewis, assistant chief; Brig. Gen. G. M. Barnes, assistant chief; Brig. Gen. R. W. Case, commanding the Watertown Arsenal, Mass.; Brig. Gen. J. B. Rose, commanding the Aberdeen Proving Ground, Md.; Col. H. R. Kutz, Chief of the Fiscal Division; Lt. Col. W. W. Warner, chief of the Artillery Division; Maj. G. M. Taylor, assistant chief; Maj. D. N. Hausman, executive officer, Philadelphia Ordnance District; Maj. William S. Broberg, Philadelphia Ordnance District; Lt. A. S. Branson, Baltimore District; Lt. Charles Madary, Philadelphia District; Lt. Richard J. Smith, Industrial Service, and R. E. Layton, Chief Inspector, Baltimore sub-district.

The Army Ordnance Association has founded three new medals to be awarded for meritorious ordnance service. A medal for meritorious service to armament engineering will be named for the late Brig. Gen. John H. Rice, Chief Ordnance Officer of the A.E.F. during the World War; a medal for meritorious service to industrial preparedness will be given in honor of Col. Frank A. Scott, first chairman of the War Industries Board in 1917; and a medal for meritorious service to the Army Ordnance Association will be awarded in honor of Maj. Gen. William Crozier, Chief of Ordnance from 1901 to 1918. Names of the three candidates to whom the awards will be presented for the first time this year will be announced in the near future.

General Staff—Brig. Gen. Harry L. Twaddle has been appointed Assistant Chief of Staff in charge of Operations and Training (G-3). General Twaddle succeeds Brig. Gen. Harry J. Malony, who has been transferred to the War Plans Division in the War Department General Staff. General Twaddle has been on duty in the Operations and Training Division of the War Department General Staff for nearly three years, serving most of the time as Chief of the Mobilization Branch and for several months as Acting Chief of the division. General Malony had been on duty until recently as the senior Army member of the Board of Experts appointed in connection with the leasing of Army and Navy bases in the Atlantic from the British Government. He will be Acting Chief of the War Plans Division during the absence of General Gerow.

Naval Aeronautics—Due to increasingly general use by the Navy of the Naval Reserve Aviation Base at New York, N. Y., for Atlantic patrol purposes, the field will be designated a Naval Air Station about 15 May. Lt. Comdr. Donald F. Smith, USN, commanding officer of the Naval Reserve Aviation Base, will command the Naval Air Station. Redesignation of the field will not interrupt the Naval Reserve flying activities normally carried on.

Rear Adm. John Towers, chief of the Bureau of Aeronautics, returned to Washington 29 April via Navy transport plane from a week's inspection tour of West Coast aviation facilities. During his trip Admiral Towers visited the new Naval Air Station at Alameda, Calif., and the big Naval Air Station at San Diego, Calif. Accompanying Admiral Towers on his return to Washington was Rear Adm. Aubrey Fitch, USN.

Army Directory—Copy for the 20 April 1941 issue of the Army Directory has gone to the Government Printing Office, and the next edition of the semi-annual publication will soon go to press. Exact date of issue depends upon conditions at the Government Printing Office, but officers in the Adjutant General's Office predict that it will be at least two months before the Directory is ready for distribution. The new edition will follow the pattern of previous issues, although no attempt will be made, probably, to show temporary rank of officers. The 20 Oct. 1940 issue of the Directory indicated temporary rank by means of footnotes, but the rapidity with which temporary appointments are being made, and the fact that a large number are by selection and not en bloc probably will make the task of indicating such appointments too complicated.

Panama Canal Department—The training directive for the Panama Canal Department for the year 1941-42, which started 1 April, lists the objective as the development of units prepared to execute effectively their respective missions, on short notice at existing strength, in combined operations against any form of attack on the Panama Canal by an enemy equipped with modern means of combat. Training missions of subordinate units have been developed along the following lines: Department troops will be trained to function efficiently as a service team; The Panama Coast Artillery Command will be trained to carry out the two major elements of harbor defense operations and antiaircraft artillery operations; the Panama Canal Department Air Force will be trained to carry out three major elements—offensive employment as a striking force, defensive employment against aircraft, and cooperative employment with ground troops, and the Panama Mobile Force will be trained to serve in the task of security guard and mobile defense operations.

Individual training will stress the importance of combatting sabotage, and will center around a thorough course of basic instruction in the arm or service of the recruits. When basic studies are mastered, training will be progressive and diversified to make each individual capable of performing his duties as a member of a combat team. Combat units will be thoroughly trained in all phases of pertinent tactics; schools will be conducted, and numerous special subjects will be taken up.

Field Artillery—A new Officer's Specialist Course was started on 29 April 1940 at the Field Artillery School. This is a 4-week course in Survey and Fire Direction. Ten students selected by the Commandant from Battery Officer Class number 7 will constitute the first class. In the future ten officers will be selected from each Battery Officer's Class to attend this course. The graduates of this course will be of great assistance to their organizations in operating their fire direction centers, and will lead to a more uniform procedure being used throughout the Field Artillery.

Orders were issued this week assigning Col. Carl A. Baehr to command of the 71st Field Artillery Brigade, Ft. Ethan Allen, Vt., and Col. Lloyd E. Jones to command of the 76th Field Artillery Brigade, Ft. Francis E. Warren, Wyo.

General Staff—Col. Eugene Reybold, Assistant Chief of Staff, G-4, War Department, will conduct a series of conferences in Washington, commencing at 8:15 a.m., 5 May 1941, and extending through 7 May 1941. The following will attend these conferences: G-4 GHQ; G-4, First, Second, Third, and Fourth Armies; G-4, First, Second, Third, Fourth, Fifth, Sixth, Seventh, Eighth and Ninth Corps Areas; G-4, Armored Force; G-4, GHQ Air Force; G-4, 5th, 6th, 7th, 26th, 27th, 29th, and 44th Divisions; G-4, 1st Cavalry Division.

Medical Department—The War Department has ordered the transfer of a number of Station Hospital Detachments in the Ninth Corps Area to Air Corps Facility assignments in the northwest. The transfers are permanent and affect the following Medical Detachments: Forty-seven enlisted men at Ft. Lewis, Wash., set up for Felts Field, Wash., to be transferred in grade to the Air Corps Facility, Boise, Idaho, at the earliest practicable date; 42 enlisted men at Ft. Lewis set up for Portland, Ore., to be transferred in grade to the Air Corps Facility, Portland, Ore., at the earliest practicable date; 62 enlisted men at McChord Field, Wash., set up for Spokane, Wash., to be transferred in grade to the Air Corps Facility, Ft. George Wright, Wash., at the earliest practicable date; 41 enlisted men at McChord Field set up for Bellingham, Wash., to be transferred in grade to the Air Corps Facility, Everett, Wash., on or about 30 May; the enlisted men of the Medical Detachment, unassigned, at Ft. Douglas, Utah, consisting of 29 privates, will be transferred to the Air Corps Facility, Pendleton, Ore., on or about 25 May.

Army Chaplains—Notwithstanding the rush in the construction of the cantonment at the Ordnance Training Center, Aberdeen Proving Ground, Md., the spiritual side of the selectees has not been neglected. Under the direction of Chaplain Harold H. Schultz, a recent arrival from the Philippines, assisted by Chaplains Russell E. Young and James E. Richardson, both Protestant and Catholic services are held regularly. Chaplain Richardson, formerly a parish priest of the New York diocese, also was at one time Chaplain of the Police Department of New York City.

Chaplain H. A. Robinson in a recent speech to the noncommissioned officers of the 76th and 77th Coast Artillery Regiments at Ft. Bragg, N. C., urged vigorous efforts to stamp out illiteracy and called on his listeners "to take advantage of the opportunity to contribute to the existence of these United States as an independent nation."

Army Chaplains are being urged to continue their annual practice of encouraging each officer and enlisted man to write a letter to his home on Mother's Day, Sunday, 11 May. Each chaplain is expected to fill a barrel full of letters.

The War Department has granted authority to corps area and department commanders to conduct conferences of chaplains on matters concerning religious work of the Army similar to the conference of chaplains from all corps areas, armies, army corps, GQH Air Force, air districts and the armored force which was held in Washington on 2 and 3 April. The War Department, however, will authorize no additional allotment of funds for this purpose and travel costs will be charged to funds now in an allotted status to corps area and department commanders.

Service Life Insurance—The Veterans Administration is meeting a "new emergency" in the large number of applications for National Service Life Insurance policies, and a lagging (in acknowledgement) of applications for policies is being evidenced, according to Bri. Gen. Frank T. Hines, Administrator of Veterans Affairs. Since the enactment of the National Service Life Insurance Act on 8 October, 1940, more than 350,000 applications for approximately $1,185,000,000 insurance, have been received from persons in the active service in the land and naval forces of the United States.

Certificates, issued as evidence that the insurance has been granted, are being mailed at the rate of 3,500 per day. At the present time substantial progress is being made in disposing of the accumulation of applications.

General Hines advises those who have made application for policies and have not yet received certificates that pending final action on these applications, those persons who have elected to pay premiums by direct remittance to the Veterans Administration should continue to remit future premiums as they are due or within the grace period of 31 days, in order to insure continuous protection and prevent the possible lapse of insurance. Those applicants who have executed proper allotments or authorizations for the deduction of premiums each month from their active service pay, should feel assured that, if their applications are otherwise acceptable, they and their beneficiaries are being protected under the insurance, pending formal issuance of the certificates, provided premiums are being regularly deducted from their active service pay in accordance with their allotments or authorizations.

Army Industrial College—The new class will have one of its busiest weeks starting Monday, with seven high ranking officers scheduled to lecture. On Wednesday, 7 May, the class will hear Brig. Gen. Charles Hines, CAC, and Col. Ray M. Hare, QMC, both of the Office of the Assistant Secretary of War; on Thursday, 8 May, speakers will be Rear Adm. Ray Spear, paymaster general of the Navy, and Capt. Carl L. Hansen, USN; on Friday, 9 May, the lecturers will be Maj. Gen. Charles M. Wesson, Chief of Ordnance, and Maj. David N. Hausman, OD, while on Saturday, 10 May, Brig. Gen. Frank F. Scowden, Deputy Quartermaster General, will give a lecture.

Students attending the present course are, on the average, somewhat younger than the record of former years. The highest classification by ages is in the 26-30 limit which has 24 students, following by 31-35 with 18 and 36-40 with 17. Five students are between the ages of 20 and 25 and none are over 50. Of the 84 members of the class, 64 are college graduates and only 5 did not attend college. In private life the students represent no less than 36 different occupations.

Several new problems will be taken up by the present class as a result of developments here and abroad. They include the Procedure of the O. P. M., with Maj. Edward Gluck, OD, as instructor; The Aeronautical Industry, Capt. L. C. Ames, AC, instructor; The Steel Industry, Maj. T. R. Snyder, OD, instructor; The Automotive Industry, Capt. H. W. Hutchinson, QMC, instructor; The Communications Industry, Maj. J. K. Fairchild, SC, instructor, and The Heavy Chemicals Industry, Maj. D. W. Winfree, AC, instructor.

Army Medical Corps—Brig. Gen. Harry C. Coburn, commanding officer of the Ft. Bragg Medical Center, addressed the annual Spring meeting of the Carolina Chapter of the American Physiotherapy Association which was held last week-end at Fort Bragg. Also heard on the program was Lt. Col. P. C. Riley, who was instrumental in organizing the Physiotherapy Department at Fort Bragg. On Sunday, Lt. Col. G. D. Chunn, commanding officer of the large cantonment hospital recently constructed at the fort, conducted a tour of the hospital, and Lt. Col. P. L. Cook, chief of the surgical service, presented case studies of patients under treatment in the Physiotherapy Clinic.

The War Department has announced that officers of the Medical Department who desire to attend meetings of any of the National Societies pertaining to their profession will be permitted to do so on a detached service status and without expense to the government, provided their services can be spared.

Cavalry—A new executive officer for the Chief of Cavalry was named this week to succeed Brig. Gen. Karl S. Bradford, last week temporarily promoted to brigadier general and ordered to the 1st Cavalry Division, Ft. Bliss, Texas. The new executive is Col. Howell M. Estes, Cav., who will be relieved from duty in the War Department Bureau of Public Relations on 5 May. Colonel Estes has been on duty in Washington only a short time, having been brought from the 1st Cavalry Division by Maj. Gen. Robert C. Richardson, jr., director of Public Relations.

General Bradford will command the 2nd Cavalry Brigade, succeeding Maj. Gen. Innis P. Swift, who has been moved up to command the 1st Division, succeeding General Richardson. In another order recently issued, Brig. Gen. Harry D. Chamberlin was made commander of the Cavalry Replacement Center at Ft. Riley, Kans. With Brig. Gen. John Millikin commanding the 1st Brigade, Brig. Gen. Terry Allen, the 3rd Brigade; Brig. Gen. Benjamin O. Davis, the 4th Brigade; and Brig. Gen. Robert C. Rodgers, the Cavalry School, there is no shortage of general officers in the Cavalry at present. Two vacancies, however, soon will be created—one when the commander of the 2nd Cavalry Division is named, the other when General Davis retires this summer.

Maj. Gen. John K. Herr, Chief of Cavalry, is still away on his inspection of Western cavalry activities and is not expected to return until 5 May. Upon his return, General Bradford, acting chief and executive, will leave for Ft. Bliss and Colonel Estes will move in.

Lt. Col. Vennard Wilson, Cav., reported in the Office Chief of Cavalry this week for duty in the operations section. He comes from the Cavalry School, Ft. Riley, Kans., to replace Maj. Francis P. Thompkins, Cav., who is an observer with the British Middle East forces.

U. S. COAST GUARD

REAR ADM. Russell R. Waesche, Commandant of the Coast Guard, will be awarded the honorary degree of Doctor of Laws by the California Maritime Academy at San Francisco, Calif., on Monday, 5 May.

Academy Examinations

The entrance examinations for the Coast Guard Academy will be given on Wednesday and Thursday, 14 and 15 May, immediately preceding the annual commencement program which will extend from Friday, 16 May, to Monday, 19 May.

Bids for Cutters

Bids for the construction and equipment of one Coast Guard 113-foot cutter for duty on Western rivers will be received until 2 p. m. 15 May. The contract will allow 375 calendar days for construction, delivery and acceptance to be made at any port on the Mississippi river or its navigable tributaries.

Operations

Personnel from the Cuttyhunk Coast Guard Station on 20 April assisted in floating the schooner Vagabond which went aground in New Bedford Harbor, Mass., and on the same day the SS Mt. McKinley, which went aground on Battery Island, Wrangell Narrows, Alaska, was floated by the Cutters Nemaha and Hemlock and conveyed by the latter vessel to Juneau.

sel to Juneau.

On 21 April the motorship Clevelander went aground two miles northeast of Little Kinnakeet Lifeboat Station, N. C., and was floated the same day with the assistance of the Cutter Calypso and Cape Hatteras Lifeboat Station.

The Cutter Ossipee floated the SS Sandland which was aground at Starve Island Reef off Marblehead, Ohio, on 23 April and conveyed the steamer to Toledo, Ohio. For most of the week the Cutter Tahoma was standing by the Canadian steamer Grey Beaver aground on the northwest side of Manitou Island, Lake Superior, Mich. On 24 April the Cutter Dix took the disabled trawler Babe Sears in tow 126 miles east by south of Cape Ann and towed the craft to Gloucester, Mass.

Considerable time was spent during the week in search of missing sea and aircraft. On 18, 19 and 20 April search was conducted by plane and lifeboat units between Niagara-on-the-Lake and Oswego, N. Y., for a missing Norwegian plane. On 23 April a plane from Salem Air Station made a fruitless search off Marblehead, Mass., for three fishermen reported missing and the following day the Cayuga endeavored to locate the trawler Ruth and Margaret, reported disabled approximately 300 miles east of Boston.

Military Engineers

Secretary of the Navy Frank Knox will be guest speaker at a banquet in the Mayflower Hotel, Washington, D. C., 12 May, which will close the first day's session of the annual meeting of the Society of American Military Engineers. A luncheon for members and their guests will be held the same day, with Maj. Gen. Julian L. Schley, Chief of Engineers, as guest speaker. In addition to the regular business sessions, inspection trips to the new Washington National Airport and to the Engineer post and replacement training center at Ft. Belvoir, Va., have been arranged.

This year's meeting will differ from previous sessions, not only in the extension of events over two days and the holding of inspection trips, but in the opening of all events, business and social, to wives and guests of the members.

The business session which will open the two-day meeting on 12 May will be adjourned early that afternoon. It will be opened with an address of welcome by Col. David McCoach, Jr., Engineer Commissioner of the District of Columbia and chairman of the program committee. In addition to reports of officers and committees, two technical papers will be presented. Mr. Sherwood Smith of the Office Chief of Engineers will discuss "Air Raids and Protective Construction," and Capt. Clayton E. Mullins, CE, member of the Engineer Board, will present a paper on "Military Bridges and Bridging." At the session, the S.A.M.E. Gold Medal Award for 1940 will be made to Mr. Herbert D. Fox, of Denison, Tex., and the Toulmin Medal for the best article published in the society's publication, The Military Engineer, will be awarded to Capt. A. D. Starbird, CE, of West Point, N. Y.

Presiding over the business meeting will be the retiring president, Col. J. Monroe Johnson, member of the Interstate Commerce Commission.

During the business meeting the result of the election of officers and directors for the coming year will be announced and the new president will be inducted into office and will preside thereafter.

The nominees for election are: president—Rear Adm. Ben Moreell, USN, Chief of the Bureau of Yards and Docks. 1st Vice President—Rear Adm. L. O. Colbert, Director, U. S. Coast and Geodetic Survey. 2nd Vice President—Col. William Kelly, President, Buffalo, Niagara and Eastern Power Corp. Directors—Mr. Frederick Hall Fowler, president, American Society of Civil Engineers, Palo Alto, Calif.; Col. E. S. Bres, Zone Engineer, Quartermaster Department, U. S. Army, New Orleans, La.; Mr. Gano Dunn, president, J. G. White & Company, New York, N. Y.; Maj. A. C. Harper, U. S. Engineer, Retired, New York, N. Y.; Col. C. O. Sherrill, City Manager, Cincinnati, O.; Lt. Col. T. B. Parker, Chief Engineer, T. V. A., Knoxville, Tenn.

Air Corps Unit Insignia

The following has been announced by the War Department:

"1. Authority for the wearing of distinctive insignia to be worn on the uniform will be granted only in those cases when the insignia and mottoes are of an idealistic or exalted nature and do not include anything of a sordid, malign, or malevolent character implying animosity or partiality towards any nation or group of nations or people, or which stresses the destructive nature of warfare.

"2. Design for aircraft marking purposes may be similar to the design of the distinctive insignia of the units concerned, but need not conform to the requirements of the above policy regarding distinctive insignia for wear on the uniform."

A Favorite of the Service for Five Generations

"33 to 1" — it'll be your favorite, too!

Because It's a Blend of 33 Fine Brews to Make One Great Beer

SINCE 1844, Service Men have called for Pabst! Today, more than ever, Pabst Blue Ribbon is an outstanding favorite with the Service. And for a mighty good reason! It has something you're bound to enjoy: a BLEND of 33 fine brews to make one single glass!

As in the finest coffee and the finest champagne... it's expert blending that gives Blue Ribbon its smoother, tastier, unvarying goodness.

When "at ease" enjoy it in the dress parade bottle "with the blue ribbon on it"—or in handy cans.

... WITH A BLUE RIBBON ON IT

Enjoy it in full or club size bottles, handy cans, and on draft at better places everywhere.

THROUGH Admiral Harold R. Stark, Chief of Naval Operations, the Government of the United States has invited representatives of eleven of the South and Central Americas to come to this country for inspection tours and incidentally of course, to be entertained. The first group will arrive this coming week.

Rear Admiral A. Toutant Beauregard, USN, has been assigned as aide to the naval visitors.

Admiral and Mrs. Stark expect to go today to Annapolis to see the crew races.

The Commandant of the Marine Corps, Maj. Gen. Thomas Holcomb, and Mrs. Holcomb entertained at dinner Tuesday evening and again on Wednesday, at their home at the Marine Barracks. Among the guests were Col. John Potts, commanding officer of the Marine Barracks, and Mrs. Potts, who is just recovering from an illness.

Mrs. Potts' daughter, Mrs. F. Clifton Toal of Atlanta, Ga., will come on to Washington to visit her mother for "Mother's Day."

The Under Secretary of War and Mrs. Robert P. Patterson were dinner guests Monday evening of Mr. and Mrs. Chauncey Parker; on Tuesday evening they dined with the British Ambassador and Lady Halifax; on Wednesday they attended the dinner-dance at the Army-Navy Country Club given by the officers of the Planning Branch of the War Department; and they attended a cocktail party given by Maj. and Mrs. D. H. Pratt of the British Embassy on Thursday afternoon.

Mrs. Alexander Sharp, wife of Rear Admiral Sharp, will be hostess at a luncheon on Wednesday next.

Maj. Gen. and Mrs. Thomas Holcomb were among the guests who attended the reception given by the president-elect of Haiti and Mme. Elie Lescot Monday afternoon at the Carlton, as did many others of the Marine Corps, as the officers of that branch of the Service have been so often on duty in that country. Mrs. Stark, wife of Admiral Stark, and Mrs. Louis McC. Little, from Quantico were also in the company.

Cordial "hands across the sea" were extended at an interesting reception given the military officers of the British Purchasing Commission in New York by Maj. Gen. J. Leslie Kincaid, D.S.O. at six o'clock on the afternoon of Tuesday, 22 April, at the Dauphin Hotel in New York City.

Among the British guests were: Col. K. S. Mackenzie, Col. and Mrs. E. M. Ramsford, Lt. Col. and Mrs. F. C. D. Tot-hill, Lt. Col. and Mrs. P. S. Blowey, Lt. Col. and Mrs. W. G. Abnett, Lt. Col. and Mrs. C. S. Kirby, Capt. Ward and Ward-room Officers of "H.M.S. Malaya," Maj. Thompson, British Air Commission, Washington, D. C., Maj. J. H. Parsons, Maj. and Mrs. John Netherstone, Comdr. H. L. Vaughan-Williams, Wing Commander D. W. R. Ryder, Wing Commander A. J. Richardson, Group Captain J. A. T. Ryde and Flight Commander D. C. Smith. Civilian British guests were Mr. and Mrs. F. B. Robinson, Mr. and Mrs. L. T. Hogarth, Mr. and Mrs. G. W. K. Frayling, W. Gordon Hughes, Allan S. Lane and William Gwynne.

General Kincaid's American guests were Hon. J. Mayhew Wainwright, former Assistant Secretary of War; Maj. Gen. John F. O'Ryan, K.C.M.G., wartime Commander 27th Div., AEF; Brig. Gen. Edward Olmsted; Maj. Gen. and Mrs. Irving J. Phillipson, Commanding 2nd Corps Area; Capt. H. B. McKittrick, Commanding Brooklyn Navy Yard; Lt. Comdr. and Mrs. W. A. Fly; Lt. Untermyer; Wythe Williams, and F. O. March.

Mrs. W. E. Pattison French, widow of Major French, has leased her home in Georgetown to Col. and Mrs. Rex Benson of the British Embassy. Mrs. French is leaving Monday for Ogunquit, Me., with Mrs. Henry Bogue of Baltimore, to be her guest for two or three weeks.

The Right Rev. James E. Freeman, Bishop of Washington, was guest preacher at the cadet chapel at West Point last Sunday and was house guest of Chaplain and Mrs. H. Fairfield Butt, 3rd.

Mrs. Victor Foster, widow of Colonel Foster, who has been spending some two months in Washington left this past week for New York where she will visit Mrs. Walter Brooks on Park Ave. Later she will go to West Point where her son, Cadet Garrard Foster is to become a first classman in June. Before leaving Washington she gave a dinner at which were present Col. and Mrs. Claudius M. Easley, Col. and Mrs. Frank T. Atwood, Comdr. and Mrs. George L. Woodruff and others.

After serving in China, France, Italy, Turkey and American Samoa, Lt. Comdr. Arthur T. Emerson has come to Washington for his first tour of duty here. He is accompanied by Mrs. Emerson, who turns her knowledge gleaned around the world to a practical use in the handling of herbs, and she is to take part in the Flower Mart to be held this coming week on the pilgrim steps of the National Cathedral.

Mrs. Emerson's son, Ens. Earle Childs last his father when the latter was killed on a British submarine, as an American observer in the last World War. The second son is Arthur T. Emerson, Jr., who is at the U. S. Naval Academy.

"Service Charges" is the name put to an amusing book of incidents of army life as lived by army folk, and which is soon to make its appearance from the pen of Mrs. Harold O. Bixby, wife of Major Bixby, AC, USA.

Lt. Comdr. and Mrs. Peter Haas, Jr., have as house guests at their home in Arlington, Va., Lt. Comdr. and Mrs. R. D. Pitton, who have come to Washington for station, he having been assigned to the new Naval Medical Center.

Maj. Clarence H. Schabacker has come for duty in Washington from West Point and in June will be joined by his wife and family.

One of the most interesting events of the Fiftieth Continental Congress, Daughters of the American Revolution, recently held in Washington, was the gift of an ambulance for British civilian wounded made by California Chapter, D. A. R. of San Francisco, California. Mrs. Henry M. Robert, Jr., President General, N. S. D. A. R., made the presentation for California Chapter to Neville Butler, British Minister, at the close of his address on the opening night of the Congress. Mrs. William Aden Powell, wife of Col. William Aden Powell, USA-Ret., is the regent of California Chapter of San Francisco which sent the cheque as its gift for the ambulance.

The Annual Meeting of the Army Relief Society was held at The Barclay in New York City, on Wednesday, 30 April, at 3 o'clock.

Mrs. Arthur Page, the President, presided and the guest speaker was Brig. Gen. Irving J. Phillipson, introduced by General Harbord.

Tea was served to approximately 100 members and guests.

MISS MARY ELVIA RUDDELL daughter of Lt. Col. and Mrs. James C. Ruddell, of West Point, N. Y., whose engagement to Cadet David Gabriel Gauvreau, USMC, has been announced. The wedding is to take place in the Cadet Chapel at West Point 12 June.

Weddings and Engagements

THE wedding of Miss Jacqueline Louise Stewart and Lt. Wilson Maxwell Hawkins was solemnized by Capt. Joseph Calvin Slides, Post Chaplain, in the Fort Riley Post Chapel on Tuesday evening at eight o'clock, 15 April before a gathering of close friends. The bride is the daughter of Lt. Col. and Mrs. Harold Paul Stewart and the groom is the son of Mrs. Sara Hawkins of Moss Point, Mississippi.

The chancel of the chapel was banked with palms, forsythia, Easter lilies and ferns and the altar was lighted with white candles. Mrs. Eugene Woltz, a friend of the family, played the organ and before the ceremony another friend, Mrs. Alexander George, sang "Oh Promise Me" and Grieg's "I Love Thee."

The bridal party entered to the strains of the Wedding March from Lohengrin. The best man was Lt. David Goodwin of the 6th Cavalry, Fort Oglethorpe, and the ushers were Lts. John J. Kelly, Winslow Ryan, Henry P. Held, Armistead R. Harper, William L. Turner and Eugene J. White. The matron of honor was Mrs. James T. Thompson, sister of the bridegroom, the maid of honor was Miss Malda Barnhart, daughter of Col. Frank Barnhart, and the bridesmaids were the Misses Jenn Stewart, Frances Wright, Peggy Harris and Ann Raguse.

The bride, who entered on the arm of her father, was beautiful in a classical white chiffon gown with flowing sleeves and a long train. The wide waist band was trimmed with a design of orange blossoms of white satin applique and outlined with tiny pearls. Her long veil was of beautiful rose point lace with illusion net and flowed from a diadem of the lace trimmed with pearls. The short face veil was also of illusion. Her graceful shower bouquet was of calla lilies, lilies of the valley and sweetheart roses.

After the ceremony the bride and groom left the chancel under an arch of crossed sabers held by the ushers to the strains of Mendelssohn's Wedding March.

A reception for 150 persons at the Cavalry School Officers' Club followed immediately after the ceremony.

The bride's table was exquisite with a point de venise banquet cloth, bowls of white roses, snapdragons, and sweet peas and with tall candles in silver candelabra and the four tiered wedding cake in the center of the table. The bride cut the first piece of cake with her husband's saber in the traditional manner. The other refreshment tables were covered with point de venise cloths and were adorned with bowls of spring flowers and trailing smilax.

The bride and groom together with the parents of both stood in a receiving line to welcome their friends. The orchestra played throughout the evening and Miss Peggy Harris caught the bride's bouquet.

Lieutenant and Mrs. Hawkins left the reception early on their wedding trip. The bride and groom will be home after 30 April at Fort Oglethorpe where Lieutenant Hawkins is stationed with the 6th Cavalry.

Miss Amele Ragsdale became the bride of Lt. Guy Bryce Gray, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. R. Gray of De Queen, Ark., at a beautiful and impressive ceremony in the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Dexter Ragsdale, on Saturday evening, 19 April, at eight-thirty o'clock. The Rev. Father A. S. Henkes officiated at the ceremony.

The house was beautifully decorated with palms, plumosa ferns and white tapers.

Mrs. Lawrence Gibson played the traditional wedding marches at the piano and accompanied Mr. Edward Kuehn who sang the wedding songs.

The groomsmen were Lts. O. C. Skinner, Fred Engelman, E. McCarren, and Walter Hamberg, all of Kelly Field and Lt. James Logan of Randolph Field.

Lt. O. Appelt, cousin of the bride, of Kelly Field, was best man to Lieutenant Gray.

The bridesmaids were the Misses Bobbe Welder, Patsy Linden, Mary Frances Manly, and Donnie Fraser, all of San Antonio. Miss Jayne Coats of San Antonio was the maid of honor. Little Miss Jean Mayer, cousin of the bride and daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Mayer of San Angelo, was the Junior Bridesmaid.

The bride who entered with her father, was charming in a picturesque gown of white duchess satin. A deep yoke of tucked transparent organdie was outlined back and front with ruffled Val lace, forming a widened V in front and buttoned all down the back with tiny satin covered buttons. The high round neck was also edged in Val lace. The bodice was fashioned with a deep V at the front where the tremendous skirt fullness was gathered on. And similarly, at the back, ending in a train. The full skirt which was worn over hoops was unusual in that the three front panels were looped up and adorned with clusters of white Roman violets, insets of Val lace.

Her long veil of bridal illusion fell from a coronet of mother of pearl violets set in Victorian puffs of tulle atop her head.

She carried her childhood prayerbook topped with alba orchids and white bouvardia.

Immediately after the ceremony a reception was held in the Tapestry Room of the St. Anthony Hotel.

Mrs. Ragsdale, the bride's mother, headed the bride's receiving line. Also in the receiving line were Mr. Ragsdale, father of the bride, the bride and groom, and the bridesmaids.

The bride's table was beautifully appointed with a lace cloth, tall white tapers, and masses of white calla lilies.

After a trip to New Orleans and Inn by the Sea, Miss, and De Queen, Arkansas, Lieutenant and Mrs. Gray will be at home at the Basic Flying School, San Angelo, Texas.

Mrs. Arthur Hopkins Rice of Portsmouth, N. H., announces the engagement of her daughter, Josephine Richter Rice, to Harold Lee Colvocoresses, son of Maj. Harold Colvocoresses, USMC-Ret., and Mrs. Colvocoresses of Litchfield, Conn.

U.S.M.A. were the groom's attendants. They were: best man, Lt. Urey W. Alexander; ushers, Lts. James G. Dubuisson, Jerry S. Addington, Francis E. Kramer, Robert C. Cassibry, John R. McLean, Lawrence Legere, Donald V. Bennett, Raymond Renola.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur C. Wiebusch of Waco, Tex. After her graduation from Waco High School, she attended Baylor University, majoring in French and English, and where she received both her Bachelor of Arts and Master's degrees.

Lieutenant Milner is a son of Mr. and Mrs. William D. Milner of Austin, Tex. Following his graduation from Waco High School, he attended A. & M. College of Texas and Baylor University and graduated from U. S. M. A. with the class of 1940. He is now stationed at Ft. Sam Houston with the 37th Field Artillery Battalion.

After spending their honeymoon at New Orleans and points in Florida, Lieutenant and Mrs. Milner will take up residence at 506 Graham Road, Ft. Sam Houston.

At the Church of the Heavenly Rest in New York, Saturday last, 26 April, Miss Frances Andrews, daughter of Rear Adm. Adolphus Andrews, USN, and Mrs. Andrews, was married to Mr. Benjamin Franklin Dillingham, 2nd, son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter F. Dillingham of Honolulu, and a great grandson of Lowell Smith, who was among the missionaries who went to the Islands in 1833.

The date chosen for the wedding was that of the grandparents of the bridegroom, Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin Franklin Dillingham.

Easter lilies, dogwood and oyotium ferns made the church a bower of beauty and Admiral Andrews wore his full dress uniform and led the lovely bride to the altar, she wearing a gown of cream colored net over satin—an off-the-shoulder model with full sleeves and a long train. Falling the length of the train was an exquisite point lace veil, a family heirloom, and she carried white orchids, orange blossoms and lilies of the valley.

Mrs. Myron Wick, Jr., sister of the bridegroom, served as matron of honor. The other attendants were Mrs. Lowell Dillingham, Mrs. Kenyon Bolton, and the Misses Miriam Scott, Jane Watson, Alexandra Grange and Jane Blaffer. Gail Dillingham, young daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lowell Dillingham, was flower girl.

The white orchids carried by the bride were brought to her by Mr. Dillingham, father of the bridegroom, who came by clipper from Honolulu.

Mr. Gaylord Dillingham was best man for his brother, and the ushers were Messrs. Adolphus Andrews, Jr., Myron Wick, Jr., Robert Gannett, Ronald von Holt, Edwards Roberts, Bennett Forbes, Henry Russell, William Clothier, Jr., Richard Cooke and Robert Hagey.

The bride was educated at the Marie Jose School, Gstaad, Switzerland, the Ethel Walker School, Simsbury, and Bryn Mawr and was presented to society in Washington, when her father was Chief of the Bureau of Navigation, and later was presented at the Court of St. James.

The Rev. Dr. Henry Darlington, chaplain with rank of colonel, in the National Guard of New York, assisted by his brother, chaplain with rank of Lt. Comdr., Rev. Gilbert Darlington, N. R., were the officiating chaplains, and Richard Crooks of the Metropolitan sang.

At Ft. Myer Chapel, Saturday, 26 April, a military wedding took place, uniting in wedlock Miss Marie Hall Tawressey, daughter of Capt. Alfred Tawressey, USN, and Mrs. Terese and Ems. John Joseph Cassidy, Jr., USN, son of Mr. and Mrs. Cassidy of Cleveland, Ohio.

Lighted tapers in seven branched candelabra illuminated the altar, abloom with spring flowers and Chaplain S. Strahan performed the ceremony.

The bride, a navy girl with a long line of nautical forebears is great granddaughter of the late Rear Adm. and Mrs. Thom Williamson, granddaughter of the late W. Carvel Hall of Baltimore, and of Mrs. Carvel Hall, and of Rear Adm. John G. Tawressey, USN, and the late Mrs. Tawressey.

Her lovely wedding gown of chantilly lace was ornamented at the sweetheart neckline with three pearl brooches, each with a nuptial history—one her mother's, one her grandmother's and one her great grandmother's, worn at their respective weddings.

The gown had long sleeves and a long, full train and a cap of chantilly lace held in place her face veil and long wedding veil. She carried an arm bouquet of Easter lilies.

Miss Agnes Wirt Tawressey was her sister's maid of honor. The bride's maids were the Misses Mary Teasley, Mary Jane Jacobs, Mary Tighite and Patricia Hall, cousin of the bride. Virginia Carvel Chamberlin and Brooke Bartlett Chamberlin, Jr., were junior attendants.

Mr. Paul Cassidy, brother of the bridegroom, was his best man and the groomsmen were Mr. William Shannon Troy, Mr. Thom Williamson Blair, Lt. (Jg) John Becker, Ensigns John Stevens, Joseph MacDowell, Albert T. Church, John Court, and Thomas Fuller, USN.

A reception followed in the flower-decked home of the bride and among the out-of-town guests were Capt. and Mrs. William Teasley, Col. and Mrs. Carvel Hall, Col. and Mrs. Lemuel Shepherd of Baltimore; also Comdr. and Mrs. Harry Need of Philadelphia, and Comdr. and Mrs. Roswell Blair of Annapolis. Ensign Cassidy is of the class of '38, West Point.

The engagement of Miss Sara Learoyd Wescott, daughter of the late Col. Robert Hayes Wescott, to Mr. Charles William Berry, son of Col. Daniel G. Berry, Ret., and Mrs. Berry has been announced by her mother, Mrs. Wescott, who entertained at an informal tea at her home 2120 Gay St., San Diego, Calif.

The bride-to-be was educated at the University of Vermont, Boston University, and the Sorbonne in Paris. She is a member of Kappa Alpha Theta and the Women's National Aeronautical Association. She has a brother, Lt. (Jg) Robert H. Wescott at the submarine school in New London, Conn.

Mr. Berry graduated from Spring Hill College, Mobile, Ala., and his brother, Maj. Daniel Berry, USA, MC, is with the American Expedition in Newfoundland.

No date has as yet been set for the wedding.

Capt. Allen Bevins Reed, USN, and Mrs. Reed of Washington have announced the engagement of their daughter, Elizabeth Moorhead Reed, to Mr. Lane Cameron Kaley of New York, son of Mrs. W. H. Kaley of Los Angeles, and the late Mr. Kaley.

Capt. Reed is in the office of Production Management as naval liaison officer, and his daughter was graduated from the National Cathedral School in Washington and Smith College.

Mr. Kaley was graduated from Miami University and is a member of Beta Theta Pi. The late summer will be the time for the wedding.

Miss Patricia Crandon became the bride of Capt. Donald Hamilton Randell, FA, USA, on Saturday last in the chapel at Ft. Myer, the Rev. Ivan Bennett officiating.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Henry Crandon of Coral Gables. Capt. Randell is the son of Mr. Frederick Lewis Randell of New York, and the late Mrs. Randell. He attended George Preparatory School in Pennsylvania; Princeton University, and the American Institute of Banking in New York. At present he is on duty in the office of the Under Secretary of War.

The bride attended Ashley Hall in Charleston, S. C., Converse College in Spartanburg and Katherine Gibbs School in New York.

Given in marriage by her uncle, Mr. Samuel Connelly of Jacksonville, Fla., the bride was lovely in a gown of white mouseline de sole trimmed with chantilly lace in deep bands. Her veil was draped to her hair by orange blossoms from her father's orange grove in Florida. She carried white lilies with a patriotic touch given by the center formed of red and white carnations and blue cornflowers.

Mrs. John Biggerstaff of Long Island, was matron of honor, and Miss Louise Boatwright of Aiken, S. C., was maid of honor. They wore gowns of hyacinth blue, large hats and bouquets of purple lilacs and lilies of the valley.

Capt. John Vincent Hinkel, USA, Washington, was the best man. The ushers included Col. George H. Foster, USA, Washington; Major Lewis H. Barnes, USA, Elgin, Tex.; Maj. John M. Rae, USA, Boston; Capt. David I. Doderhoff, USA, New Orleans; Lt. Hugh Wise, Jr., USA, Washington, and Lt. Charles G. Hardin, USA, Macon.

Following the ceremony there was a reception at the Army-Navy Town Club.

The wedding of Miss Priscilla Loring Andrews, to Mr. William Gilbert Osmun, son of Lt. Col. and Mrs. R. A. Osmun, Narbeth, Pa., occurred 15 April at Valley Forge Chapel in the presence of members of the immediate family.

The bride was charming in a full length shell pink organza dress, with lace and organza bodice, and she wore a short tulle veil topped by a pink lace coronet. She carried an arm bouquet of white roses, snapdragons and blue delphinium tied with white ribbon. Miss Helen Osmun, the groom's sister, was the bride's only attendant.

Owing to the unexpected absence of the bride's brother, Colonel Osmun acted in a dual capacity, giving the bride away and as best man for his son. After the ceremony Colonel and Mrs. Osmun gave an informal reception at the Navy Club, Philadelphia Navy Yard, in honor of the bride and groom.

Mr. Osmun and his bride left for Montgomery, Ala., where he is a Second Lieutenant in the Air Corps Reserve stationed at Gunther Field. They will be at home at 814 Mulberry Street, Montgomery, Ala.

Mr. William E. Moss, the bridegroom's grandfather, came on from Grosse Point, Mich., for the wedding; also Miss Charlotte Andrews, the bride's aunt from Brooklyn, N. Y. Miss Jean LeCaine and Mr. Fred Heath flew down from Boston for the wedding.

Lt. Col. and Mrs. Guy Blair Denit announce the engagement of their daughter, Virginia Buchanan, to Lt. Robert William Strong, Jr., AC, USA. Miss Denit attended schools in Washington, D. C., and Atlanta, Ga., Gulf Park College, Gulfport, Miss., and for the last year has been a student at St. Mary's College in Leavenworth, Kans. Lieutenant Strong is the son of Col. and Mrs. R. W. Strong of Ft. Knox, Ky. He is a graduate of the United States Military Academy, West Point, in the class of 1940, and is at present stationed at Randolph Field, Texas. The marriage will take place in the late summer.

Announcement has been made of the engagement of Miss Christean Butterfield Moore, daughter of Mrs. Minda Moore of New York, and Mr. Langdon Moore of Chicago, Ill., to René de Russy, Jr., son of Col. and Mrs. René de Russy, USA.

Lt. Col. Robert J. VanBuskirk, CAC, USA, and Mrs. VanBuskirk, of Fort Ontario, N. Y., have announced the engagement of their daughter, Suzanne Dewees, to Ens. Elmar Stebbins Waring, Jr., USN, son of Dr. E. S. Waring, of Fairfax, Va. Miss VanBuskirk was graduated from Deering High School in Portland, Me, and attended Mount Holyoke College. Ensign Waring attended the University of South Carolina and was graduated from the U. S. Naval Academy in 1939. He is now attached to the USS Cushing at Pearl Harbor, Hawaii. The wedding will take place in early summer.

Miss Ellen Daly was married to Capt. Peter Peca, Military Aide of Maj. Gen. Edmund L. Daley on Thursday, 20 March at five o'clock in St. Augustine's Church, San Juan, Puerto Rico. Chaplain Mariano Vasallo performed the ceremony.

The bride was given in marriage by her brother-in-law, Capt. Robert Totten, who is stationed at Borinquen Field. Her sister, Mrs. Totten, was matron of honor and the other attendants were Mrs. Niola Anzalone of Batavia, New York, a sister of the groom; Mrs. H. F. Turner and Mrs. E. A. Chapman.

Maj. Gen. Edmund L. Daley was best man. The ushers were Capt. E. A. Chapman, Capt. H. F. Turner, Capt. Charles J. Bondley, Capt. James E. Walsh, Capt. Howard W. Doan, Lt. Robert H. Rhine, Mrs. E. D. Peddicord played the organ.

The bride's gown was cream colored satin and she carried a prayer book. All her attendants wore taffeta gowns of different colors and carried mixed nosegays. After the ceremony at the church a reception was held at Casa Blanca. The couple are now stationed at Camp Beauregard, Louisiana.

Mrs. Peca is the daughter of Col. and Mrs. Charles D. Daly of Pacific Grove, California, and Captain Peca is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Peca, of Batavia, N. Y.

Leavenworth Course Announced

The fourth in a series of two-month courses for specially selected officers of the Army at large, will start 28 June at the Command and General Staff School, Ft. Leavenworth, Kans., the War Department announced this week. The course comprises a short period of instruction in staff duties followed by specialized instruction in the duties of the four staff sections.

It was indicated that officers to attend the new course will be selected from those now on duty as instructors in service schools, on regimental or battalion staff duty or general staff duty with troops, giving preference to those who are graduates of special service schools. However, commanders may select officers considered suitable for later staff assignments.

Student officer quotas for the new course are as follows: First Army, 57; Second Army, 36; Third Army, 63; Fourth Army, 39; Armored Force, 13; GHQ Air Force, 40; Washington Provisional Brigade, 1; each Corps Area, 5; each chief of branch, 2; War Department General Staff, 6; and each replacement center, 1.

Musical Ft. Dix

If Fort Dix, N. J., is a more musical place from now on, radio station WOR can claim part of the credit. WOR has just presented a ton of music, representing the entire popular music library of the station's Newark studios, to Fort Dix for the use of its various bands and orchestras.

More than 5,000 pieces of music are in the collection. There were so many scores that an army truck had to be used to transport the music to Fort Dix.

Claims Largest Post

Fort Bragg, N. C.—Post authorities at Ft. Bragg have announced that 50,021 officers, army nurses and enlisted men are now stationed at this huge military reservation of which number 2,207 are officers, 122 army nurses, 2,170 national guardsmen, 27,284 Selective Service trainees and 18,248 enlisted men of the Regular Army. Ft. Bragg now has the largest garrison of any Army post in America.

Sleeping-car Accommodations

Commanding Generals are being informed by the War Department that "in all movements of troops in connection with maneuvers, the provisions of paragraph 2, AR 30-925, will be waived insofar as they prescribe sleeping car accommodations for a journey of one night. In journeys involving two nights or more, sleeping car accommodations will be furnished in accordance with regulations."

OBITUARIES

Mrs. Carolyn Murray Preston, wife of Ord Preston, Washington banker, and daughter of the late Maj. Gen. Arthur Murray, died 30 April at her home in Washington, D. C. Funeral services were held at her late residence on 2 May. Burial was in Arlington National Cemetery.

Mrs. Preston was born in Fort Lawrence, Kans., and was the descendant of a family long prominent in military circles. Her father was former Chief of Coast Artillery and her brother is Brig. Gen. Maxwell Murray. Her maternal grandfather was Brig. Gen. Rene de Russey, Civil War construction engineer and twice commandant of West Point.

She is survived by her husband; two sons, Lt. Ord Preston, Jr., Med.-Res., and Ens. Murray Preston, USNR; two daughters, Mrs. William L. Ritchie, wife of Major Ritchie, of the GHQ Air Force Staff, and Mrs. Linton R. Massey, and a sister, Mrs. Henry Conger Pratt, wife of Maj. Gen. Pratt.

Since her marriage in December 1912, at Fort Mason, San Francisco, Cal., she had made her home in Washington where she served on the Board of the Potomac School and of the House of Mercy and was very active in other charitable and church works.

Col. Gerald E. Brower, AC, USA, was killed 20 April in an airplane accident at El Obeld, Anglo Egyptian Sudan. Colonel Brower had been an air observer for several weeks with the British forces.

Colonel Brower was born in Brooklyn, New York, on 25 Aug. 1893. He was graduated from Cornell University with the degree of Civil Engineering in 1916 and on 30 Nov. of that year was appointed a second Lieutenant of Field Artillery in the Regular Army. He served in France during the World War and participated in the St. Mihiel and Meuse-Argonne offensives. Subsequent to the World War he transferred to the Air Corps and was rated a command pilot and a combat observer.

Colonel Brower was a graduate of the Air Service Field Officers' Course, the Air Service Engineer School, the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, the Command and General Staff School, and the Army War College.

General Gregory on Radio

Fort Meade Investigation

Conditions at Fort George G. Meade, Md., were probed by the special Senate Defense Investigating Committee this week which questioned a number of witnesses concerning complaints that the cost of construction had been excessive and the location unsatisfactory.

Maj. Gen. James K. Parsons, USA-Ret., former commander of the Third Corps Area, told the committee he alone was responsible for the location of the camp at Meade and said he had endeavored to save as much space as possible to train on because the country was growing up. He told the committee that German and French Armies trained a good deal in parks and other locations in cities where they were quartered.

In the course of his testimony, General Parsons was questioned by Senator Harry S. Truman, Mo., chairman of the committee on a number of points. The following is taken from the testimony:

"General Parsons: Senator, I would like to make a statement. As to the location of the camp at Meade, I am the only man in the United States Army or elsewhere responsible for it.

"The Chairman: I am glad there is one general in the Army who is willing to assume responsibility without passing the buck up or down. Proceed general.

"General Parsons: I probably would if I could have passed the buck, but there was too much evidence that I did the work and I don't think we have to look for any other culprit.

"Chairman: Well, proceed on that basis.

"General Parsons: The next thing I had reasons why I established the post there, the base, and it goes back to my command there. As I stated this morning, the post was in the wrong place. While I didn't hate it, I felt very critical, and I came down and asked the reason why, it was done to save money because they said the water, sewers, lights and everything were there. As a matter of fact it was a lot of wood stuff and did have to be replaced.

"Now at that time I had to make a mobilization plan for the post, though there was no division coming out there. We had all the old barracks standing; we had the wooden sewers there; so I was very much interested. We even had the railroad tracks, though they were wearing out, the cross ties. As to all the utilities, the water system is there to this day, probably based on what we planned then.

"Of course the whole idea was that the German Army and French Army are in cities and drill a good deal of their time in parks and localities. When they put these troops in there I wanted to save every known space possible to train on because the country was growing up, as it is now; you can see this loblolly pine has all grown up, and was growing then. After you take out a target range and take out the present post, the store house facilities and parts of ground that were not available because of their area, you have very little base to train at Meade, and I was trying to save everything possible for that training.

"Now when I came back in command of the Corps Area the first thing I jumped into was a mobilization plan, because that had been more or less a fad of mine and I was considered sort of hipped on the subject of a mobilization camp there. We found two divisions; none coming there, and a lot of nondescript units, and the reasons given were that the training ground was not big enough and that they didn't have any place to fire the artillery, though in the old time they did fire artillery until somebody increased the range of the guns, and they fired a gun that went over into the next county, through some accident, and we were prohibited from firing any artillery; we couldn't train the tanks there, except subcalibre, because it always ran into somebody's territory, and I then in 1930 recommended the purchase of all that ground because we wanted an artillery range.

"Well, now, when I went back in '38 and found there was nothing going there but a lot of nondescript medical units, the matter was simple. There was no question of Meade, just a simple thing; but they kept talking they had no place to train troops for firing. I went out to Fort Hoyle and when the President declared a semi-emergency they gave me a lot of money with no strings to it and I built the finest target range, I think, in the United States at Fort Hoyle. Then I came back and said, 'Look what we have done at Hoyle; we have the finest artillery, tank and all ranges, connected up electrically; there is nothing like it.' They said, 'We will put the Eighth Division there.' So the orders were issued from Washington that the Eighth Division was to come into Meade. . . . Then one morning I picked up the paper and found the Eighth Division was ordered somewhere else and they said then they had taken Hoyle away from me and given it to the Chemical Warfare Service."

Enlisted Army Pilot Training

Training of enlisted men of the Army as aviation students, as provided in the bill H. R. 4449 introduced last week at the request of the War Department was approved by the House Committee on Military Affairs this week. The committee's report was written by Chairman Andrew J. May, Ky., and reads as follows:

"The Committee on Military Affairs, to whom was referred the bill (H. R. 4449) to authorize the training of enlisted men of the Army as aviation students, having considered the same, submit the following report thereon, with the recommendation that it do pass.

"The purpose of this legislation is to authorize essential aviation training of enlisted men in grade so as to make possible the creation of an additional pilot group comprised of noncommissioned officers in appropriate grades and ratings, within the Air Corps with career advantages, for individuals who lack the educational qualifications required for appointment as flying cadets (officer-candidates); and to provide, without expense to the individual, Government life insurance in the amount of $5,000 for such personnel during their training period.

"Based on the provisions of existing law and guided by what the War Department believed to be the clear intent of Congress, as well as the cost and complexity of modern airplanes and their operation, War Department policy has in the past prescribed that, with the exception of officer-candidates undergoing training as flying cadets, all pilots should be commissioned officers. It now appears, however, that due to the proportions of the present expansion program and since other nations are utilizing successfully a certain percent of noncommissioned officer pilots, the War Department desires to adopt a definite plan for utilizing an appropriate percent of this class of personnel in its expansion program.

"This legislation will effect an ultimate saving to the Government for it will enable the War Department to reduce the number of additional commissioned officers which otherwise would be required to fully carry out its extensive program of expansion.

Commissions for Enlisted Men

Details for applications and selection of 2,300 students from warrant officers and enlisted men of the Army of the United States to attend the opening courses at 10 officer candidate schools have been announced by the War Department.

Quotas by Corps Areas and Departments have been set, and applications will be received immediately for the first of the three-month courses, which will open 1 July. Applications should be made to immediate commanding officers. Commissions as Second Lieutenant in the Officers Reserve Corps will be given those who successfully complete the courses.

The basic consideration governing the selection of students will be leadership, as demonstrated by actual service in the army. Corps Area and Department commanders may assure themselves in any manner they consider appropriate that the applicant possesses the intelligence necessary for a commission as an officer. Applicants must have had at least six months' active Federal service at time of submitting application. The candidate can not be more than 36 years of age. He must make application through the proper military channels to his post commander, and then to Corps Area or Department commander. The letter must bear the endorsement of his company commander, showing either approval or disapproval, a statement that the applicant has served six months or longer, and if he has less than three months to serve that he will accept discharge and reenlist to attend the school. Applications to attend the school must be accompanied by the regular application for a commission, a final type physical examination form, and an agreement to serve one year on active duty under his commission, if granted.

In addition to quotas by corps areas and departments, 250 warrant officers and enlisted men, actually serving with the Armored Force will attend the Armored Force school 1 July. Graduates will be commissioned in the Infantry or Cavalry. The Air Corps will be entitled to send 50 men to schools—25 to the Signal Corps school, 10 each to the Ordnance and Engineers Schools, and 5 to the Quartermaster School.

USMA '86 Reunion

Members of the United States Military Academy class of 1886 are planning to hold their fifty-fifth reunion at West Point this year during graduation week. Brig. Gen. Robert L. Eichelberger, superintendent of the United States Military Academy, has advised the class that on whatever date they select he will turn over all the facilities of the Academy to them.

General John J. Pershing, General of the Armies of the United States, who returned to Washington this week after spending some time at San Antonio, Tex., is planning to attend this reunion and meet his former classmates again.

Surviving members of the class are:

General Avery D. Andrews, Maj. Gen. Malvern Hill Barnum, Maj. Gen. George B. Duncan, Major Charles G. Dwyer, James L. Druien, Floyd W. Harris, Maj. Gen. Wm. H. Hay, Brig. Gen. Arthur Johnson, Maj. Gen.

E. M. Lewis, Maj. Gen. Frank McIntyre, Col. T. Bentley Mott, Brig. Gen. Henry C. Newcomer, Maj. Gen. M. M. Patrick, General John J. Pershing, Brig. Gen. Thomas H. Rees, Maj. Gen. Peter E. Traub, Brig. Gen. C. C. Walcutt, Col. R. C. Williams, Col. E. S. Wright. Honorary Members: Maj. Gen. James G. Harbord.

Former Members: Maj. Gen. Wm. W. Wright, Maj. Gen. Charles H. Martin, and Brig. Gen. Harry E. Wilkins.

Salutes for Generals

Section II, Circular No. 5, War Department, 1941, is rescinded, and the following substituted therefor:

During the present emergency, the salutes and honors prescribed in paragraph 13a, AR 600-25, will not be rendered to officials of the Army, Navy, or Marine Corps unless the official for whom the salute and honor are prescribed has requested such honors in advance of his arrival at the post, camp, or station.

Air Corps Promotions

The Air Corps announced this week the promotion of approximately 1,050 enlisted personnel of the Air Corps, the second large group of promotions to be announced recently. The promotions, made effective on 1 May, list 144 technical and first sergeants as promoted to master sergeants, and 902 staff and first sergeants promoted to technical sergeants.

Current expansion of the Air Corps, which is aiming at a scheduled 50,000 planes-a-year-rate in the near future, was given as reason for the large number of mass promotions. On 17 April, the Air Corps announced the promotion of 920 staff and first sergeants to technical sergeants, and 310 first and technical sergeants to master sergeants, bringing to a total of more than 1,820 the number of promotions to technical sergeant and 454 promotions to master sergeants, made within 5 weeks.

Warrants for promotions are being drawn up and signed at the present time.

Names of those receiving promotion follow:

To Master Sergeant

FINANCE

Financial Digest

The prediction of Mr. Jones, Secretary of Commerce and Federal Loan Administrator that the National Debt will reach at least 90 billion dollars, shows the country the magnitude of the effort that must be made for an impregnable American defense. The present legal limit upon the Public Debt is 65 billion dollars, and it follows that Congress must grant authority for the larger sum. Wisely to raise money, as a measure to prevent inflation, and to provide the citizen with a cushion against the evils which peace will bring after the war, the Treasury has inaugurated a defense savings campaign apprising the people that they can buy war savings bonds and war savings stamps at their Post Offices. As these securities will not be immediately available for banking use, as, in fact, their main purpose is to encourage thrift, they become a part of the Administration policy of guarding against inflation. Another sound Treasury policy is found in the principles underlying the Morgenthau tax program. Those principles contemplate paying as we go of a reasonable proportion of the costs of armament, distribution of the taxes equitably among the people, mobilization of our resources for defense and reduction of appropriations for non-essential work, and prevention of a general rise in prices by keeping the total volume of monetary purchasing power from outrunning production. Unfortunately, the Secretary's draft of the tax bill does not fully carry out the principles, nor does that of the Congressional experts. The former places much of the tax load upon ten per cent of the people. The latter would affect the poor by imposing taxes upon the commodities they consume. The House Ways and Means Committee is holding hearings, which are covering every phase of the tax question, and after the bill it will report shall have passed the House, the Senate Finance Committee will investigate to level out any inequities that may be developed.

In expectation of drastically high taxes, corporations are beginning to make larger reserves for taxes. For example, Du Pont had sales during the first quarter of $109,000,000, but its net profit after reserves for taxes and contingencies was only $20,754,161 compared with $23,757,188 in the 1940 period. Bethlehem showed a small decline in its net profit, and so did General Motors, Hercules Powder, and others. To the tax program, the international situation and the curb upon speculation, are attributed the perverse trend in security prices.

Stickers For Autos in D. C.

The Director of Vehicles and Traffic of Washington, D. C., has found that all personnel of the Army, Navy and Marine Corps registered in the District of Columbia are allowed to use their current registration plates and drivers' licenses in any or all of the states during the remainder of the current registration year. Accordingly, the District of Columbia extends complete reciprocity to the personnel of the Army, Navy and Marine Corps who are assigned to duty in the District from the different states during the remainder of the current year for which the tags or permits are issued.

In order to avail themselves of this privilege, all persons who are entitled to it should present their cars and official orders to one of the inspection stations operated by this Department where they will be supplied with a non-resident privilege sticker which will be recognized by the police and which will permit them to operate in the District of Columbia with their home plates and permits during the balance of the year. The station attendant will require each applicant for these stickers to present a copy of his official orders assigning him to duty in the District of Columbia.

The address of the inspection stations is as follows: 1827 West Virginia Avenue, N. E., and 615 10th Street, S. W.

segregation of duties and functions and personnel to specific arms and services may tend to restrict thinking and action, but he very emphatically does not want to take any radical steps that might interfere with the smooth flow of the present expansion program.

The only order relative to duty of his assistants thus far issued by Secretary Stimson is as follows:

ORDERS:

Pursuant to authority contained in the Act of 16 December 1940 (Public No. 891—76th Congress):

a. The duties and responsibilities placed on the Secretary of War by Section 5a of the National Defense Act, as amended, are hereby assigned to the Under Secretary of War.

b. Chiefs of branches of the Army will report directly to the Under Secretary of War regarding all matters of procurement.

c. The Under Secretary of War will continue to perform the duties and discharge the responsibilities placed on the Assistant Secretary of War by Army Regulations No. 5-5, 16 July 1932, Orders E, War Department, 28 November 1933, and all other existing orders or instructions.

d. The office heretofore designated as the Office of The Assistant Secretary of War will hereafter be designated the Office of the Under Secretary of War. All officers and civilian employees now detailed to the Office of the Under Secretary of War or the Office of The Assistant Secretary of War from the branches engaged in procurement, and all other officers and employees now on duty in the Office of the Under Secretary of War or in the Office of The Assistant Secretary of War, shall continue on such detail and duty in the Office of the Under Secretary of War.

e. During the absence or disability of the Under Secretary of War, or in the event of a temporary vacancy in that office, the duties and responsibilities of the Under Secretary of War shall be performed and discharged by The Assistant Secretary of War, and in the case of the absence or disability of both the Under Secretary of War and The Assistant Secretary of War, or in the event of a temporary vacancy in both of said offices, the duties and responsibilities of the Under Secretary of War shall be performed and discharged by the Assistant Secretary of War for Air.

Merchant Marine

The President on Wednesday called on the Maritime Commission to secure the service "of at least two million tons of merchant shipping that now exists" and make their cargo space immediately effective for transporting defense materials to democracies. The commission promptly responded by arranging to place 50 American tankers in the service of Great Britain within the next few days, and indicated that other ships probably will be transferred to British registry, including Axis and Danish ships recently placed under "protective custody."

In a letter to Rear Adm. Emory S. Land, USN-Ret., Chairman of the Maritime Commission, the President wrote: "I realize fully that to get cargo and refrigerated ships and tankers diverted from their existing or proposed routes of travel will cause not only great inconvenience but the loss of trade and sacrifice by the consuming public. But vital war materials are piling up at the ports or delayed at the factories. We must supply those ships and at once. I am sure the owners of our ships will gladly cooperate in this essential enterprise."

The President complimented the commission on the progress being made in the ship building program but added, "I cannot stress too strongly the urgent necessity of keeping all of the existing shipyards in continuous operation." He also declared that "our merchant fleet must be expanded faster than we had planned so that ships and more ships will be available to carry the food and the munitions of war to the democracies of the world."

In response to a suggestion in the President's letter that a special person be assigned to the full time task of carrying out the directive, Admiral Land designated H. Harris Robson, director of the Emergency Ocean Transport Division of the Commission and a vice president of the United Fruit Lines.

More Emergency Ships

Contracts for 184 additional ships have been awarded by the Maritime Commission, in addition to the 200 recently ordered under the first emergency program. Of these 184 ships, 72 are high-speed, single-screw tankers, to be built by SB & DD Co., Chester, at a cost of about $180,000,000. The remaining 112 are single design "ugly ducklings," of which 212 are to be built under terms of the Lease Lend Bill. Cost of the 112 vessels will approximate $184,800,000.

These ships are being built by the same firms that have contracts for the first 200 ugly ducklings.

Maritime Conference Continues

Conference of Maritime Commission officials, ship operators and representatives of seamen's unions continued this weekend, as three committees studied probable future demands for seagoing personnel in the expanded merchant marine and discussed ways to meet the needs.

One committee represented licensed officers; one, unlicensed personnel; the third, radio operators.

The conference convened 28 April and recessed after appointing the committees and winning from the Maritime Commission a promise to urge local draft boards to grant deferments to seamen. This action was suggested by Frank J. Taylor, president of the American Merchant Marine Institute, and Joseph Curran, president of NMU, and was taken up by other conferees present.

Gen. Johnson Out of Reserves

President Roosevelt this week declined to approve the reappointment of Hugh S. Johnson as a brigadier general in the Army Reserve Corps.

White House Secretary Stephen T. Early emphasized that there was no question of personalities involved in the failure to reappoint General Johnson. Early said the President has asked the War Department to make a thorough investigation of the age and physical condition of all senior Reserve officers who are coming up for reappointment. General Johnson is 58 years of age and the War Department in its original recommendations waived the question of physical fitness.

Mr. Early further stated that on 16 April, General Johnson wrote the President stating that his reappointment had been recommended by the War Department but was apparently being held up at the White House. Early said the letter was referred to Maj. Gen. Edwin M. Watson, military aide to the President, who wrote the following:

"The President has read your letter and has asked me to say that personalities had no place in his decision not to reappoint you to a Reserve commission.

"The President feels very strongly that in the present emergency reappointment of general officers who are eligible by age to perform active service should be restricted to those whose employment on such service is anticipated and that only after the physical fitness of the officer has been investigated to the satisfaction of the Army medical authorities.

"The War Department does not plan to place you on active duty and in view of this fact your reappointment would be of no purpose.

"The question was simply whether in the present emergency you and others within the age limit for active duty should be reappointed to what would amount to a purely honorary rank without actual significance."

Mr. Early said that General Johnson would have to be the one to make public his own earlier letter to the President. General Johnson subsequently did so and it read:

"I talked to Pa Watson about the following last night, but fear I didn't make it clear. I have been a Reserve Brigadier General for fifteen years—three terms of five years each. The last expired 10 April. The War Department submitted to the White House my nomination for reappointment several days earlier. It stopped there.

"I am 58. End of the term of reappointment would not find me at the retirement age, 61. Neither physical nor professional examination was required. As to the mental examination, it is waived in all cases and there would probably be no occasion to call me to active duty except in some line of my special experience—mobilization of manpower or industry.

"As to physical condition, there is no trouble except that I am overweight. It is unimportant because I could not assume active duty without a physical examination anyway.

"A call to active duty would be a serious problem to me. With a considerably increased income, greatly increased personal obligations have been assumed—mostly to invalid and dependent relatives which I could not meet on service pay. I would have to cease writing, which would destroy, perhaps permanently, the basis of my earnings. I mention these things to show that I have the reverse of any selfish interest in seeking reappointment. But I have a horror of having it said that I tried to escape an obligation to immediate service by any device—including a lapse of my commission.

"I am sure that you don't like me any more—and I don't blame you. But I am equally sure that you know in your heart, more confidently perhaps, than about some other people that in whatever you might ask me to do I would serve you faithfully and loyally—as I have always done.

"What I am trying to say is that I am sure you have, on any personal basis, neither the intention of disqualifying me to serve my country if an appropriate occasion should arise, nor the heart to do so. The Reserve commission means nothing to me of either prestige or advantage—nothing at all otherwise except a standing one-way ticket to potential grief. I respectfully submit that withholding it in these circumstances is neither very wise nor very consistent with what at least used to be a very close and precious friendship.

"P. S.: May I emphasize again that it seems to me that I am not here asking for any favor to myself and to recall that throughout our entire association I never did."

Ships for Britain

The Navy has no combatant vessels that can be spared for transfer to Great Britain, Secretary of the Navy Knox reiterated this week. He made it clear that he had not been asked for any vessels, and that the Navy would not be disposed to invite such a request.

This statement, however, does not include the little motor torpedo boats on which the Navy is beginning to get fairly frequent deliveries, at Elco's Bayonne plant. Of these craft, 20 already have been delivered to England. The Navy Department is "hourly" awaiting an order from Britain for 24 additional "mosquito" torpedo boats of an improved design. To deliver the 24 modified design boats will require about a year, Secretary Knox said, but he indicated that Britain was willing to wait for the improved design since present orders would take up the slack.

England has had opportunities to test the "mosquito" craft under actual war conditions in the narrow English channel, and has found certain modifications over the original designs to be desirable.

Two officers of the Bureau of Ships have been ordered to Canada to make a study of shipbuilding facilities in that country in order to determine to what extent the U. S. Navy can place contracts for small combatant craft with Canadian yards.

The officers are Comdr. Lisle F. Small, USN, and Lt. Comdr. Philip Lemler, USN.

Feasibility of construction of Navy vessels by Canadian contractors was discussed last month by President Roosevelt and Prime Minister King of Canada. One purpose to be served by the project would be the giving of additional dollars to Canada with which she could finance her war purchases here.

Progress of Defense

The House Committee on Rules has given right of way to H. R. 4466, and the bill will be considered by the House early next week. It provides for the taking over of more than 80 idle foreign merchant vessels now lying in American harbors. Included among them are 2 German vessels and 35 Italian vessels. Notwithstanding the fact that the acquisition by compulsion of belligerent vessels by a neutral is an unprecedented act, unknown to international law, it is urged in behalf of this legislation that extraordinary conditions require such action and that the payment of just compensation to the owners relieves the action of any taint of injustice. It is also suggested that since some of the axis ships were subjected to sabotage by the crews, the United States is justified in taking over the vessels as a matter of self-defense and for the prevention of sinking which would block commerce in American harbors.

A minority of the Committee on Merchant Marine and Fisheries has filed a report strongly opposing the bill on the ground that it violates international law and is provocative of war with the axis powers.

About 150 merchant vessels are idle in ports of the American republics, in addition to those in United States waters. A committee representing those republics has recommended that the vessel be acquired by the respective governments concerned. Some of the vessels fly the flags of Germany and Italy.

It is well understood that negotiations now on foot look to the transfer of a large part of this tonnage to Great Britain. The President may retain the foreign vessels and deliver to Great Britain an equivalent number and tonnage of American-flag vessels. In the case of Latin American republics, however, it is expected that direct transfer of German and Italian vessels will be made to Great Britain, in spite of the novel character of the transaction, and over the protest of the axis governments.

The entire transaction is expected to make available to American nations, and indirectly to Great Britain, about 1,350,000 tons of merchant shipping. The cost of acquisition so far as the United States is concerned is to be defrayed from the lend-lease appropriation of $7,500,000,000.

The Vinson Labor Bill

Successful adjustment of many labor disputes has had the effect of delaying action on the Vinson bill, which provides for compulsory suspension of strikes for twenty-five days in disputes involving plants engaged in defense production. Strenuous protests from labor organizations have been lodged against the bill. It is scheduled for consideration, however, during the coming week.

Much seems to depend upon the trend of labor controversies during the next few weeks. If they are adjusted without strikes it is predicted on Capitol Hill that the drastic Vinson bill will be shelved for the time being. That the bill will be defeated seems unlikely. It may be held over the heads of labor organizations as a warning of what may come if defense production is seriously impeded.

Production of Defense Equipment

Thus far the production of defense equipment has not been perceptibly diminished by the threatened shortage of coal. The first 28-ton tank has appeared. Output of warplane of various categories during April is believed to be up to expectations. A sharp increase in production of bombing planes is promised by June 1. Rapid progress is being made in merchant shipbuilding and in preliminary construction of naval vessels destined to fill out the two-ocean program. Powder plants are now in production, and ordnance production is increasing.

Little difficulty is found in furnishing auxiliary war supplies for Great Britain, such as foodstuffs, steel, machinery, cotton, petroleum and gasoline. The oil supplies of the United States are ample for British needs and for national defense reserves. The Office of Production Management foresees a shrinkage of war exports to Britain unless additional shipping is forthcoming soon. Much more could be sent if ships were available. The Maritime Commission is apportioning ships to the best advantage, according to the needs of commerce. Many coastwise vessels have been diverted to the foreign field, and shipping concerns voice loud complaints that peacetime commerce is being hampered and even disrupted for lack of shipping. Shipping service between North and South America is skimmed because of British war imports from the United States.

Captain to major from 10 May 1941:
X. A. C. Ramsey, Inf.

Coast Guard Personnel

Should the Coast Guard be transferred to the Navy for service, it was learned this week, it will be taken over as a unit and operated as a bureau similar to the present operation of the Marine Corps.

Thus the Coast Guard headquarters would continue to handle its own personnel matters, promotion, assignments, etc. The Chief of Naval Operations most probably would call upon Coast Guard headquarters for certain missions or vessels which the Coast Guard would supply equipped and manned.

Should the Navy require any Coast Guard personnel it would call upon headquarters to supply them and should the Coast Guard require any additional personnel it would ask the Navy to furnish them.

The War Situation

After making due allowance for the terrain and weather conditions, it seems incredible that the Grecian armies aided by the small British Expeditionary Force, of 60,000 men should have been able to stop the German and Italian masses for three weeks, then evacuate the Britishers with a loss of only 12,000 prisoners and casualties.

The few detailed accounts of the fighting which have been published credit the Nazis with an overwhelming superiority in the air and mechanized equipment. As in previous campaigns their air superiority was utilized to the widest extent in searching out and attacking enemy concentrations, installations and movements. Masses of 30 to 50 planes are reported to have flown repeatedly over British-Greek lines without meeting any air resistance. Highly coordinated with the air effort was the utilization of the motorized and mechanized ground forces. Tanks, which are nothing more nor less, than mobile and armor-protected field artillery, were guided to their objectives by air observation. Their fire power combined with the fire and bombing power from the air quickly forced the British-Greek forces out of their naturally strong defensive positions and permitted other ground forces to move up rapidly by motorized equipment and hold their gains.

Apparently the Nazis were never able, even with their superiority to disorganize the British-Greek forces to the extent necessary to prevent the retirement and evacuation of the main British forces. Near the end of the campaign, German parachute troops were landed behind the British-Greek lines and met with some local success. However, the reports do not indicate that they were a vital factor in the success of the German war machine.

A real surprise of the Balkan campaign was the capture of the Grecian islands of Somothrace, Lemnos and Thasos, and further the transportation of troops by sea along the western coast of Greece in order to get in the rear of the British-Greek line. The early capture of Salonika gave Hitler a base for sea operations which he used to advantage. These waters are close to the German air bases in the Balkan, but they are far removed from German and Italian territorial waters except for the near-by Italian bases in the Dodecanese Islands. It is a question as to whether the German success over these narrow waters was due to precampaign planning and preparations, or to the exploitation of a situation which was found to exist after the capture of Salonika. However, the ability of the Nazis to capture such islands in the eastern Mediterranean introduces a new factor in the war in that theatre and will further complicate the problem for the British.

These islands will undoubtedly be used as air and submarine bases. The additional experience of the Germans with their parachute troops against an active enemy may also introduce another factor in the Battle for the Eastern Mediterranean which is rapidly approaching another phase, extending from Iraq in the east to Gibraltar in the west. Hitler is reported to have over 1,000 aircraft transports each reported to be capable of carrying 25 men, field guns, or armored cars. To meet these additional air and submarine threats, the British will have the additional forces released from Greece and East Africa and the troops now enroute to Africa. Also a British Fleet consisting of battleships, battle cruisers, aircraft carrier, cruisers, destroyers and other units is reported to have arrived recently at Gibraltar. This force may be the one regularly stationed in the Western Mediterranean but it seems more reasonable to assume that it is a reinforcement sent to maintain a more far flung control of the Mediterranean and to prevent reinforcements and supplies reaching the German-Italian force in North Africa, which is estimated to be about 30 divisions.

The Vichy government has released a statement of the losses incurred by the French Navy. The list does not include vessels damaged, such as the Richelieu and the Dunkerque. It follows:

Battleship: Bretagne, sunk at Mers-el-Kebir.
Cruiser: La Tour d'Auvergne, accident at Casablanca.

Destroyers: Jaguar, Battle of Dunkerque; Chacal, Battle of Dunkerque; Bison, Norway expedition; Maille Breze, accident off Greenwich; L'Audaceux, Battle of Dakar; La Rallieuse, accident at Casablanca; Orage, Siroco, Foudroyant and L'Adroit, all in the Battle of Dunkerque; Cyclone, scuttled at Brest.

Submarines: Roland Marillot, Achille, Agosta and Ouessant, all destroyed or scuttled at Brest; Persee, Ajax and Poncelet, all in the battle of Dakar; Safax, torpedoed off Cape Juby; Morse, sunk by mine at Safax on Tunisia's eastern coast; Narval, torpedoed in Mediterranean; Doris, missing off Norway.

Colonial Dispatch Boat: Rigault de Genouilly, torpedoed by unknown submarine off Cape Juby.

Chasers: Chasseur, Battle of Dunkerque; Vauquois, mined off Brest; Somme, mined off Lorient.

Oil Tankers: Le Niger, Battle of Dunkerque; Rhone, torpedoed by unknown submarine off Cape Juby.

Flight Class Graduated

One hundred and fifty-two students of Class SE-41-C were graduated from the Air Corps Advanced Flying School at Maxwell Field, Alabama, on 25 April. It was the third graduating class. The exercises were held in the post theater and were attended by hundreds of the family and guests of the cadets. The program consisted of an address and presentation of diplomas by General William P. Screws, Montgomery City Commissioner; presentation of "Wings" by Col. Albert L. Sneed, School Commandant, and the invocation and benediction by the Post Chaplain.

America In Arms

The experience of the United States with military organization is vividly recounted in "America In Arms," a new book just written by Brig. Gen. John McAuley Palmer, USA-Ret., former aide-de-camp to General John J. Pershing and former military adviser to the Senate Military Affairs Committee.

General Palmer looks searchingly at America's military policy and finds that in all her history she never has been ready to meet the threat of war; and this despite the strenuous efforts of George Washington to insure this country's preparedness for every crisis that might occur. Washington had the plan but it has never been used. Now, asks General Palmer, what about the future?

The author traces American military policy from the Revolutionary War down to the present day, and reaches the conclusion that Washington had the solution and Hitler is driving us back to it steadily. Washington, he points out, called for a regular standing force of trained men; a peace militia with established arsenals and a well-knit organization, capable in time of war of swift mobilization into a large force whose men would be trained to their tasks.

The Washington formula was practical, but it has never been followed. And, says General Palmer, "we had no effective army ready for any emergency," proving only that history repeats itself. He adds that in 1920 James W. Wadsworth, then a member of the Senate and now a member of the House of Representatives, endeavored to promote a sound and permanent military system to prevent a recurrence of the costly experiences of the World War. At Wadsworth's request, General Palmer was detailed to the Senatorial Committee and a program was drafted which became the National Defense Act of 1920, but with much of its good features eliminated and its effect hamstringed seriously by the reduction in the standing Army.

General Palmer says the Wadsworth plan, if adopted as originally written, would have given America 55 fully organized divisions in the National Guard and the Organized Reserves, the youngest soldier in which would have had at least four months of intensive recruit training at the outbreak of the present war in 1938. Instead, the law has given us only "a correctly articulated skeleton in the territorial divisions of the National Guard and the Organized Reserves."

Of the future, General Palmer says much that is encouraging in the Selective Training System and predicts "after the present emergency the American people will be too wise to reject Washington's legacy of military wisdom as they did after the Revolution and after World War I."
